American schools have a tremendous responsibility today. Students must be prepared to act well their parts in many lines of endeavor and at a time when the old tenets of civilization are undergoing the test of fire. I have faith, however, both in the ability of our young people and in their loyalty to the best traditions of American life. Having at their command all of the facilities of a thorough educational system, they are preparing to accept the complex duties of good citizenship in order to help build a better nation and a better world.

For Freedom of Thought and Action

World events during the past year have increased our gratitude for America and the freedom of thought and action for which it stands. Nowhere else could we enjoy such privileges and opportunities. But then, that is our heritage.

At Phoenix Union High, good citizenship has always been an ideal. Because we want the respect of our associates, we know that fair play, cooperation, clear thinking, active participation in civic affairs—all are essential; nor do we have to wait until after graduation to practice these ideals. We consider our school a community in itself.

Directed by Superintendent Montgomery, every teacher and student in the organization plays an important part. Talented student writers, musicians, artists, speakers, mechanics—all are recognized. Everyone is encouraged to express his ideas and to participate in the successful practice of democracy.

We like to take sides in political campaigns, and to participate wholeheadtedly in local enterprises such as Fiesta del Sol, the Rodeo, county and state fairs, the Horse Show and all the others. These are our "extra-curriculars" in learning how to appreciate our fellow townspeople and the places we, as citizens, shall sometime occupy in the community.

An important cog in our wheel of progress is the Academic Committee. Meeting each day, this board, consisting of administrators, teachers, and students, has skillfully and tactfully guided many a perplexed student onto the right track.

Each is Expert in His Chosen Field

No corporation president could have gathered a more efficient board to assist in the administration of the firm's affairs than Mr. Montgomery has found in his cabinet of the department heads at Phoenix High. And justly so. Instead of working for the sale of manufactured goods to the public, the cabinet deals in citizenship, a rare and precious commodity indeed.

Upon Dr. Eastburn, registrar and director of research and guidance, falls the responsibility of organizing class schedules, checking credentials and attendance, planning and evaluating new courses, examinations, scholarships—to mention a few of his duties!

Business Manager H. M. Bargman directs the purchase of supplies and disbursements, supervises letting of contracts.

Dean of Boys William Stone and Miss Ethel Rosenberry, dean of girls, are directly in touch with over 5000 students through the Boys' Federation and Girls' League. Affable and understanding Mrs. Jean Hansen is Home Counselor

Other department heads are Mr. Avery Olney, who supervises English; Miss Irene Raymond, History; Mr. Lloyd C. Elliott, Science; Mrs. Ida McDaniel, Foreign Language; Mr. C. L. Michael, Commercial; Miss Nellie B. Wilkinson, Mathematics; Mr. R. I. Turner, Industrial Arts; Mrs. Mildred W. Wood, Home Economics; Mr. R. R. Robinson, Physical Education for boys; Mr. L. L. Kreigbaum, Agriculture; Major Scott, Military; Mrs. Cordelia M. Perkins, Allied Arts; and Miss Margaret Hurley, Physical Education for Girls.

THE CABINET—Seated: Turner, Elliott, Rosenberry, Montgomery, Hansen, Michael, Wilkinson, Stone; Standing: Eastburn, Olney, Perkins, Bargman, Scott, Kreigbaum, Raymond, McDaniel, Hurley.

Before the World, I'm an American!

What is the way to Citizenship? Perhaps there is an answer in this Voice of Youth—"Before the world I am an American! I envy no man; mine is a nation of youth, made of a new kind of steel, alloyed with the blood of many peoples . . . not too stubborn to bend, but too strong to be broken. With its far-flung frontiers, mine is a land so broad, so rich in its hidden treasure, we could live forever—alone. Mine is a people of common stature, uncursed by class, vaccinated against all isms, cults, and crackpot philosophies—Noisey at football games but dangerously silent in battle—My people THINK! Amid the clank of dinner buckets, in the depths of mines, in factory and field—wherever they are, even now they are thinking—thinking out the answers that others cannot find . . . "

Tumultuous events both in America and abroad have thrown to us the challenge for better government, for some way out of chaos. What merit, if any, is in dictator-type government? Is democracy, after all, without faults? Only by maintaining a genuine interest in and making a careful study of their government can tomorrow's voters prove their worth.

Although many of us at Phonix Union High School can learn the answers to the problems that will be ours so soon after graduation, we certainly do not feel smug, safely hidden behind our classroom walls. In our social science courses, in English, industrial arts, in business and home economics, we follow with keen interest the trends of our government and of those in other countries.

Nor are we without a reason for this alertness. Citizenship is no meaningless, empty term to Phoenix High School students. Before we are half way prepared, as it is, we know that graduation will shove us out to face that startling question, "What now!"

For Them, a Taste of Good Government

Representation is the citizen's first prerogative, and on our Board of Control every student has a voice through his appointed messenger. Board members consist of elected representatives from the four classes, the Girls' League, Boys' Federation, and student body officers.

Before the Board come violators of our merit system. Cutting of classes, disorderly conduct, or other infringements of rules keeps this governing group busy each day. Beware those pink slips—and the green!

Other schools admire the success of our student administration plan and are putting it into effect. The secret, of course, lies in the Board's determination to give everybody the same square deal. No student who, because of repeated violations has been called before the Board for a "showdown", has honestly complained that the rules by which they govern are unfair or discriminatory. If anything, the offender secretly feels that the Board is over-generous!

Membership on the Board of Control is our school's best apprenticeship to leadership in government. Problems here are similar to those any city magistrate or councilman might encounter. After all, is not the way to better citizenship to be realized only by seeking a better understanding of each other's problems?

Instead of the daily seventh period session, increased enrollment and the successful operation of the Board this year necessitated the addition of a sixth period meeting. Mr. L. N. Butler is faculty adviser.

BOARD OF CONTROL—(Standing) Lindstrom, Stevenson, Gibbons, Casey, Ashby, Lewkowitz, Blanchard, Stewart, Foutz, Larson, Hoy; (Seated) Hall, Lindstrom, Deaver, Xalis, Stapley, Dean, Jamieson, Christy, Berg, Donegan, Mr. Butler, adviser.

Do You Remember the Time that-

President Charles Christy has had his worries as head of the 1938-1939 student body at Phoenix Union High School. But there have been moments, too, of pride in his 5000 fellow students. Take their enthusiastic response at football games, for example. Even with the team losing one, two, three games in a row, our pep rallies grew peppier, our cheers at the next game were all the louder. And then came the Mesa classic! We were hourse days after that triumph.

Remember, too, the downtown parades, Fiesta del Sol and the Rodeo; remember the after-game dances, the semi-formals, the Fraunfelder Swiss Singers and the other swell assemblies?

Altogether, it has been a year full of breath-taking activities. Picnics, club dinners, the follies, class plays, radio broadcasts, conventions, contests in public speaking and writing, elections, the Masque, — well, that's just a few of them!

Equally busy and interested with Charley in all our student activities were these officers: Mae Virginia Jamieson, student body vice-president; Spencer Dean, boys' secretary; Mary Ann Berg, girls' secretary; Constance Xalis, president of the Girls' League, and Lorel Stapley, Boys' Federation president.

Goodbye, Friends, and Good Luck!

And now the seniors of 1939 have reached the end of their high school days, somewhat amazed that four years so filled with achievements and unforgettable memories could have passed so quickly.

Long to be remembered are the Senior Play, "You Can't Take It With You", the Junior-Senior Prom and the wonderful time had at Senior Ditch Day.

Congratulations, "Bucket" Stevenson and your fellow officers, on a live-wire class and a thrill-packed year at Phoenix High! Our best wishes for your future success and happiness. Never has your Alma Mater sent forth a finer group of Better Citizens.

COMPREHENSIVE examinations get you both coming and going! How many unworried seniors can you count? If this year's tests are an indication, boys have the lead on their fair clossmates when it comes to meeting "practical" problems. Of these ten highest, only three are girls: Robert Bromberg, Bill Henderson, Patty Moore, Jack French, Betty Langford, C. A. Carson Jr., Bob Shrigley, Joseph Bertino Jr., Howard Holmes, Mary Elizabeth Potter, and John Strong.

No Troubles Furrow Their Brows

Make way for the Class of 1940! Saved for a year from graduation worries and the problems seniors must solve "on the threshold" of college entrance or job-finding, the junior class members look with cheerful complacence upon life.

"You bet this year's been swell!" grinned President Dick Donegan. "We've set precedents for those sophomores, all right."

Vice-President Dorothy Sergeant agreed that if next year's juniors equal or even approach the success of "Adorable Spendthrift" the 1939 Junior Play, they'll really have something to be proud of. "Where will they find another Edith Shaw!"

Never has Phoenix High witnessed a more exciting election campaign than took-place last March. Five outstanding juniors split the campus five ways in the rush for votes. And no wonder. With so many outstanding leaders to select from, who wouldn't have trouble! As it turned out, Donegan was elected student body president for 1939-40, and Edith Shaw won the most votes for the vice-presidency.

Already pledged to "the best year in the long history of Phoenix High" next year's seniors can hardly wait for the day when, with numbers starting at "6000" they take over the nominal leadership of their alma mater. Watch then for even snappier pep rallies, more victorious athletic teams, and a Ditch Day none will ever forget!

The delightful Junior-Senior Prom and Buffet Supper, held May 27, fittingly climaxed the year's fun.

Those Days are Gone Forever

Long past are the days of clumsy freshmen and disillusioned sophomores. Gone, too, are gangly legs, gawky looks, and scattered text books, for this is 1939 and we are confronted by a streamlined version of an under-classman. Sophistication is the by-word of our little sisters and brothers.

freshman is no longer in the market for elevator tickets, assembly tickets, and permanent locker permits. A modern age has, at least, made them observant.

> SPRING FEVER has seized these sophomores. But while the girls (below) daydream with school books and diaries, the boys (above) have nothing more poetic on their minds than those hotdogs they are devouring.

FRESHMEN are free, this time of year, from all that uncomfortable "newness" every ninth grader must combat . . . but they wouldn't have traded their 1938-39 fun for many a dollar! (Upper right) Officers and sponsors include Miss Mitchell, Casey, Simpson, Miss Beye, Ashby, and Bean. (At right) Where y' goin' with all those books, freshie? Well, that's one reason for Leonard's good grades! (Lower left) Wallin, Limas, Dight, and Van Sickle render a song in Mr. Raymond's English 1. (Lower right) Homeroom presidents shown here are Farrow, Berg, Robinson, Rogers, Marshall, Lara, S. Smith, Tower, Biddle, Dyer, Wood, O'Haver, Tang, Karp, Rumsey, Geary, Smith.

Planning Accomplishments for the Future

Today these students are the personification of progress. Unlike the student of the past who seldom chose a course he wished to follow until his freshman or sophomore year in college, those freshman and sophomore high school students are already planning the career they are most interested in, and are planning their high school courses accordingly.

Leaders or followers, they take an important part in school life and stand on an equal footing with upperclassmen in extra curricular activities. Days of junior-senior monopoly have gone and today there is a fine representation of underclassmen at all school functions.

Outstanding among their social events for the year is the annual Freshman-Sophomore Hop held each spring. All arrangements for this affair are made by the students themselves.

Here They Came by the Hundreds

Highlighting this year's Central Council program was the big fall convention, when the League entertained approximately four hundred girls from Arizona and Southern California. This was a two-day affair, and, judging from the many letters and expressions of appreciation that the High School received, it was a huge success.

"Rosemary Lodge" means only one thing to Central Council members—an exciting week-end of campfires, hiking, and cozy cabin comforts. Of more general interest, of course, was the annual Co-ed dance for girls only! The partners came dressed in contrast with each other; the princess came with the pauper and the old crone attended in the company of the golden-haired boy.

With the theme of books and poems, the annual Every Girls' Dinner was a festive occasion for the League Members. Another contribution of the League was Les Folies, a gay extravaganza which was a greater success this year than ever before.

COYOTE CLUB—(Front row) Windes, McKinney, Anderson, Espinoza, Shauver, Lilley, Stamatis, Center, Neal, Naylor, Brown, Morimoto, Shrigley, Welden, Gross, Paquin. (Second row) Mr. Stone Cordell, Gwillim, Brown, Doutrick, Faust, Burn, Prenovast, Kramer, Pritchard, Magill. What Campus Has Better Guardians!

Every good citizen appreciates safety, peace, and security; but in today's society none of these can be assured without the enforcement of laws. On the Phoenix High School campus our laws of safety and order are enforced by the Coyote Club members.

Because a good policeman is, in the first place, a dependable, upright citizen, Dean Stone, as club sponsor, explains that every Coyote Club member must set an example to his fellow students in the matter of cleanliness, respect, and courtesy. Stationed at "beats" covering the entire school, the boys see that school laws regarding smoking, gambling, and disorderly conduct are strictly enforced. They serve too, at the street crossings on the four streets facing the Coyote campus.

In addition to ground patrol, Coyote Club boys are on duty during lunch periods in the hallways. But the "inside" jobs belongs primarily to the Hostess Club girls.

Stationed at strategic places within the school buildings are girls who maintain order in the halls while classes are going on. These hostesses also guide strangers in our school to rooms which they may be seeking.

During classtime, the hostesses keep constant lookout in the halls and prevent students from unnecessarily roaming around in the buildings.

ANYONE WHO THINKS that girls don't play an important part in the regulation of Phoenix High are mistaken. Some of these regulators are Hostesses whose job it is to keep the students quiet, take locker-permits and show visitors around. Hostesses are a great help to new students; for they tell where the rooms and teachers are. And the Middy Board . . . they see that all the girls keep in correct uniform. When a girl is checked for being out of uniform, she must report to the Board and explain the reason she is not wearing the regulation blouse and skirt. Are these duties important? You bet!

Mrs. Kinnoman's English students investigate the treasures in a local bookstore.

Winning Our War Against Illiteracy

With education — and the elimination of illiteracy from our country—a most important step toward Better Citizenship, the study of English is rapidly assuming place No. 1 on our "must" list.

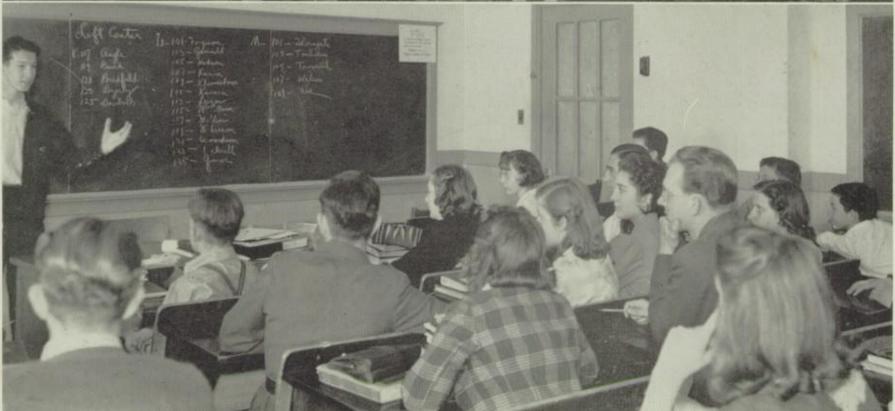

Do you feel "bad" or "badly"? Is it better to be "noted" than to be "notorious"? Ask any English student who is worth his grade! You'll get a good, sensible answer, and every word will be well pronounced. But we must not get the impression that English at Phoenix Union High is restricted to word study. Composition, dramatics, current affairs, interpretation of the printed page—all have their place in this excellent department.

New this year is the revolutionary, highly successful reading tests of underclassmen. With the aid of the Opthaln-O-Graph, a photographic method of measuring reading ability, and a system of measuring comprehension of what is read, hundreds of Phoenix students are being put on the right track.

Mr. Vern Jones "photographs" Martha June's eyes while she reads. (Right) Mr. A. F. Olney conducts Martha Kessinger along another stage of the tests.

NATIONAL FORENSIC—(Standing) Tway, Rayburn, Rollins, Cass, Mauzey, Strong, Jamieson, Demarest, Berger. (Seated) Mr. Frazier, Latham, Sitkin, Eastburn, Lewkowitz, Snedeker, Dudley, Jennings, Gray, Caldwell, Boice. (Below) Mr. Frazier's class hears Burt's winning speech.

Study Has Made Them Better Citizens

Speaking about and studying the problems of today should make better citizens of these students. The proposed Anglo-American alliance, neutrality, government spending, revision of The Wagner Labor Act—such were the topics discussed this year by the debators.

The orators started off the season with the victory of Burton Lewkowitz in the Valley Declamation Contest. The local district clash in The Constitutional Oratorical series was won by John Zimmer, with Burton Lewkowitz second, and Ben Boice third. Edward Woods, Udell Liebsohn, and Elmer Sitkin were the other contestants.

Officers of the National Forensic League were Ben Boice, president; Margaret Snedeker, vice-president; and Catherine Eastburn, secretary.

ENGLISH SPECIALISTS (reading from top row) Barney, Bray, Case, Chowning, Cox, De Lap; Emery, Frazier, Fitts, Gathings, Kerby, Kinneman; Mathis, Nelson, Nesbit, Slavens, Peniwell Raymond; Rogers, Weaver, Willson, Yaeger. (Lower right) That's Mr. Raymond with the boarding house reach, and it's mince pie they'll be havin' at the English faculty picnic! Mrs. Yaeger is assisting Chef Raymond. (Corner) Ahem! Mr. Olney, English Department head, is checking over his book of 1938-39 jokes to try on the next class.

Even the Required Courses are Inviting!

Headed by Mr. A. F. Olney, twenty-seven teachers of English have dwelt on the beauties of good literature as well as the mysteries of better writing and speaking technique to at least 4500 of our 5000 students. Nor have their efforts been without avail. Many a future author, legislator, dramatist, or journalist has found his 1938-1939 year in the Department an inspiration.

Actual experience rather than bookish theory has brought progress to the student of English. To learn public speaking, he gives speeches—in public. To learn writing for print, he writes for the Journal and Nuggets, our own publications. Field trips to newspaper offices and bookstores stay in his memory much better than what he might have read in a text book. Readin' and Ritin' as practiced in the Little Red Schoolhouse bear no resemblance to such as this!

Coyote Journal

Has Editor Timmons found something on the Feature Page not to his liking? Note "Time" which he hopes someday to edit, too.

Streamlined News

Variety has brought spice to the Coyote Journal, campus newspaper. Satisfied only with the best in high school papers, the staff continued its 1937-38 plan to use streamlined headlines and carried the step further to an eight page tabloid-size publication. The new Journal sparkles with features, spot news, pictures . . . and variety. Instead of having page 1, news, page 4, features, pages 2 and 3, ads and leftovers, the new paper satisfies everybody, including the advertisers.

Noteworthy this year was the Journal's campaign against war propaganda, a measure that brought praise from press associations and magazine editors. Fan mail poured in, too, as a result of the Journal's KOY radio broadcast in which the work of the Publications Department was dramatized.

Editor of the Journal this year was Carl Timmons but his absence, due to illness, placed the staff responsibility upon Joanne Trimble and Jane Sudekum, associate editors. The girls did a noble job of it, too!

(Lower right) Now who was that guy who asked me to autograph his annual?

A Better Annual for Better Citizens

Much has happened in 1938-39 to startle the world, and it is little wonder the Phoenician staff should feel that a theme dealing with patriotism and good government might be particularly fitting. Hence, "For Better Citizenhip"!

These world crises, one upon another, have placed a new importance on education in America, especially as it pertains to democracy. Students have read the newspapers, listened to famous radio commentators, have stayed up until early morning to hear the boastful shouts of foreign dictators . . . Time indeed to think of serious matters!

But the Phoenician points also to a happier 1938-39 . . . to marvelous school dances, rallies, dinners, thrilling athletic events. For the first time you will find the staff using angle shots, circle layouts, student models in the ads, bigger, clearer pictures and more of them. And, as Editor Patty Moore once said, "It's not hard to find interesting things to picture and write about such peppy, wide-awake kids!"

B2 BEACON STAFF—(Sitting) Shivvers, O'Barr, McIntyre, Snedeker, Dudley, Upton. (Standing) Billingsley, Bartee, Crockett, Mrs. Kyle, Powell, Reiger. QUILL AND SCROLL—(Sitting) Butler, Evans, Reiger, Ringley, Paisley, Sudekum, Powell, Moore, Driggs, Bates, Collins. (Standing) Trimble, Timmons, Shumate, Leibsohn, Speer, Goodwin.

PEOPLE WITH IDEAS can usually find an outlet for them at Phoenix High. Aside from composition work in the English classes there is the magazine, Nuggets, the Journal, and B-Square Beacon, the Girls' League publication. Published once each term, the mimeographed Beacon serves as a valuable medium for League members. Editor this year was Margaret Dudley, with Mrs. Lucy Kyle as sponsor.

Quill and Scroll, the international honorary society for high school journalists, is well represented on the P. U. H. S. campus. Composed of members from both the Phoenician and Coyote Journal staffs, the club features several pleasurable parties during the year, including an annual alumni picnic.

They Dwell in a Literary Atmosphere

Perhaps the librarians see us at our best, for it is to the library that we go for reading material and information necessary for reports. Assisting the teachers in charge are members of the Library Club. They trade library experience for the thanks of bewildered freshmen and overworked upperclassmen.

"Nuggets", the literary gem of the school, breaks into the limelight every term. It contains only the best written work submitted by writers from the four classes of Phoenix High. Members of the senior composition classes edit and design the magazine with the aid of their adviser, Miss Delpha Davis.

LIBRARY CLUB members (standing) Miss Weaver, Gill, Gibbons, Potter, Bill, Moore, Hudson, Crockett, Mrs. Robbins, Abels, Boydston, Flesher, Mrs. Rogers. NEXT BEST to taking a leisurely tour of a foreign country is the opportunity of studying about that country and its people. Many are the "trips" Phoenicians take to Spain, France, Germany, and what was Old Rome.

Le Cercle Francais, representing the most progressive and interested students of French, finds that the study of French is fun, especially when animated conversations, short plays, and the reading of attractive publications from La Belle France are a part of the program. Miss Ida McDaniel, who is also head of the Foreign Language Department, sponsors the French Club.

Hatred Can't Thrive On Understanding

Teaching students the fundamentals of a foreign language is one of the secondary objectives of the Languages Department. More important, the directors believe, is an understanding of how other people live, how they look upon the people of other countries, and what problems most concern them in their daily lives.

In view of the chaotic condition in which the world now finds itself, such a teaching attitude is praiseworthy. How can we learn to hate foreign peoples that we have really learned to understand! Just as America has become the Boiling Pot of all races, so has Phoenix Union High learned to associate with children whose heritage is derived from other lands. Students of all races find only tolerance and fair play among their fellow students on the Coyote campus.

Typical of this fellowship among nations is our Cosmopolitan Club, one of the liveliest, most fascinating of our groups. Periodically these students gather to exchange ideas and to learn about foreign lands.

Si, senor y senoritas! La Fiesta del Sol brings out the oh, so beautiful costumes!

Learning Latin-And Liking It

Senatus Populusque Romanus, the first academic club organized in Phoenix Union High School, began with membership taken from the Virgil class. Later the Junior class joined the Senior S. P. Q. R. Activities of members vary from year to year according to their interest and versatility.

The general aim for programs is to present three-fourths of each one from material illuminating the events and customs of the period studied and to draw from this study as much inspiration as possible for current living. The other fourth of each program is devoted to pure fun derived from games, contests, original skits and poems based on a theme fitting to a class studying Latin.

The Latin Department possesses about two dozen imported copies in color of large pictures purchased through past activities of the Club by the production of translations of such plays as the Menaecmi of Plautus. Suitable frames for these pictures came through the courteous cooperation of the Manual Arts Department.

Caesar Would Envy These Legionnaires

Legio Decima, the favorite Tenth Legion of Julius Caesar, has been going places this year at Phoenix High. Why, the whole school's still talking about the banquet which highlighted their 1938-39 campaign!

Sponsored by Miss Anna Schlichter, Legio Decima secures its membership from among outstanding students of second year Latin classes. Frequent programs, designed to carry out the theme of a particular type of Roman life, keep the members busy and interested. Short plays, skits, and readings in Latin are studied and presented periodically.

But let us get back to the banquet! With properly subdued slaves (gathered from the beginning classes) as food bearers, the Latin aristocracy dined sumptuously, and without utensils, at the annual feast held this year in February. The Club's No. 1 guest, Superintendent Montgomery, played his part as a modern Caesar with practiced ease.

SOME SAY "Buenos dias, como es?" while others respond with "wie gehts!" But most of us would relate the first familiar greeting to those one hears from the friendly members of Los Coyotes Espanoles. All students who have had at least two years of Spanish are eligible to join this club, which has as its adviser Miss Eva Edwards.

To study Germany, its people, its customs as well as its language is the purpose of the German Club. This club, in truth, is two clubs. Der Deutsche is for students who are studying first year German; while Jungenverein is for second year students. The adviser is Miss Mildred Rupp.

Art That Students Can Understand

Appreciation and practice of art as it pertains to everyday life—that is the objective of art instruction at Phoenix Union High School. Headed by Mrs. Cordelia M. Perkins, the Department sponsors production of all manner of artistic creations: Christmas cards, clothing patterns, stage scenery, Phoenician drawings and design, block prints, soap sculpture, costume designing . . . well, there's just no limit

Art Department visitors have expressed amazement at the amount and quality of work produced there. "Any university could be proud of this!" they exclaim. Samples of student art from Phoenix High have been shown in exhibits throughout the United States and abroad.

It's Hard Work Learning How to Play!

Phoenix Union High School's Symphony Orchestra has indeed become an organization of the highest musical accomplishment with membership reaching an all time high of 72 members. Dr. A. R. Etzweiler is director of these outstanding student musicians.

Activities for the season were climaxed by the Spring Concert held in the Auditorium the evening of March 16, at which time, in addition to other numbers, the Overture to "William Tell" by Rossini, and the "Invitation to the Dance" by Weber, were played.

Winners in a contest held last fall to choose the outstanding musicians on several different instruments, were featured upon the concert program. They were Oscar Runyon, violin, accompanied by Betty Runyon; Lloyd Stateler, piano; Dorothy Rockwood, xylophone, accompanied by Marjory Haire; Patsy O'Rourke, flute, accompanied by Dorothy O'Rourke.

Beside the Symphony Orchestra there are also two others known as Orchestra One and Orchestra Two. Members of the Symphony Orchestra are chosen from Orchestra Two.

These musicians played numerous concerts during the year including appearances at the October P. T.-A. meeting, State Oratorical Contest, Regional Oratorical Contest, Junior Play, Senior Play, and a special Broadcast over KOY on April 19.

Lois Jean Woodward was the Concert Master for the school year 1938-1939.

Creating Pleasant Memories

An excellent example of coordination in the music, art, and dramatics fields was our 1938 Christmas Program held last December in the Auditorium. Beautiful stage settings, significant pageantry, the chorus of angels, and the candlebearing Oratorio singers made a picture that will always stand high in the memories of all who witnessed it.

Talent among Phoenix students has never been lacking, but without enthusiasm of gifted, well-trained instructors those students might never have discovered their own potenntialities. In the Department of Music one may get expert coaching in all kinds of instrumental music, in choral or solo singing, band music training and the like.

Organization of a class in Photography this year has come to the attention of many students who have been longing for such instruction. Increased facilities, due to the erection of the new gym and classroom building, will insure further success of this fascinating subject.

Singing Sweet Songs, Both Old and New

One of the most popular music groups in the school and the community is the A Cappella Chorus. Annually it appears no less than twenty times before civic and religious organizations in addition to numerous student body appearances.

Among the outstanding programs in which this talented group distinguished itself were the annual P. T. A. Banquet, the Girls' Folies in a Hawaiian nights scene, the Annual Christmas Pageant, the Annual Easter Program, National Music Week festivities and its annual concert. It also was chosen to inaugurate a series of radio programs over KTAR representing P.U.H.S. and the Junior College.

The Three Notes, consisting of Ila Mae McGee, Marion Spotts, Willena Spotts, may be acclaimed the most popular music group in P.U.H.S. by virtue of appearing before more than seventy-five public audiences. They were received with overwhelming ovations for their excellent interpretation of religious and popular songs which they themselves arranged.

They Sang While the Nation Listened

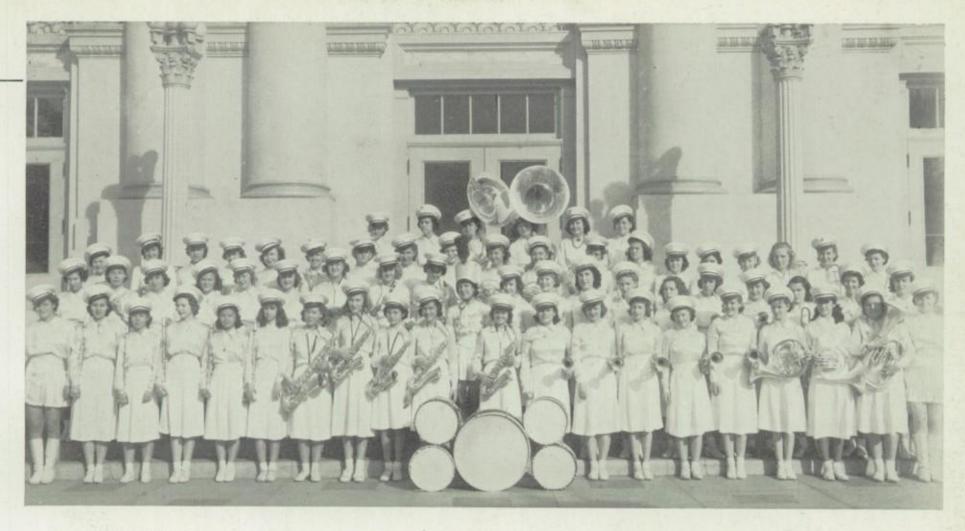

Far-famed is our Oratorio Society. Invited for the second successive year to broadcast a Good Friday Eve program, these singers presented last March 6 Mozart's "Requiem Mass" In addition they entertained listeners at Tucson and Phoenix appearances with the sacred music. For weeks following the broadcast, letters of commendation came to the school from every part of the nation.

Director of the Society is Mr. Milton K. Rasbury, who formed the Orotorio six years ago at the suggestion of Superintendent Montgomery. Since that time the singers have presented each year one of the great musical masterpeices including "Elijah", "St. Paul", "The Messiah", Verdi's "Requiem", and Rossini's "Stabat Mater."

Of equal beauty was the Society's part in the Annual Christmas Program. Dressed in flowing robes, the singers, each holding a lighted candle, filed into the darkened assembly hall while they sang "Come All Ye Faithful" with all the richness and depth that a professional choir might have given.

MARTIAL MUSIC makes most of us tingle, whether at football games or in parades. Our R. O. T. C. Band proves its ability to produce (above) on Armistice Day in the stadium. Manufacturers of Martial Music

In snappy new uniforms of red and gold, the R. O. T. C. Band, consisting of eighty-four members and directed by Dr. A. R. Etzweiler, has been more of a favorite than ever before this year.

In addition to playing for the football games, pep assemblies, and other school demonstrations, the boys have participated in various civic parades. During March, they presented a concert which was very successful. Along with the training corps, the band again passed the Federal Inspection this spring with highest rating.

The Girls' Band of seventy instrumentalists is the largest unit of its kind in the West. It includes in its repertoire the popular type of concert music as well as standard band selections. It appeared in the Fiesta del Sol Parade in attractive Spanish costumes and was given the lead position among the local bands in the annual Rodeo Parade, displaying three excellent twirlers in a flashy routine.

Outstanding among the musicians of the group was Jerry Tyler, who represented the group as a trumpet soloist on several occasions.

The band appeared at all football games, was featured at the Masque of the Yellow Moon in a special scene, and on two occasions, presented special entertainment during the half time at football games in the form of marching drills in conjunction with the Pom-Pom Unit.

More and 'Mor' Fun

Music and Mirth were truly king and queen at the annual Girls' League and Boys' Federation productions, Les Folies and Mor Follies.

Gay senoritas and caballeros, trapeze artists, and even our old friend Ferdinand the Bull, took part in the colorful girls' revue. And how can we ever forget those "gorgeous" doll dancers and the grace of the can-can girls who tripped the light fantastic in the boys' classic!

This year both productions more than lived up to our expectations. Their success was due to the wholehearted cooperation of the casts and production staffs. Directors of these performances were Miss Ruth Mathis and Mr. Walter Maxwell.

Always financial successes, the vaudevilles accumulate nice profits for a worthy cause. These proceeds are used by the Girls' League and the Federation to assist needy students of Phoenix High. Such help includes clothing, school books, and lunches.

FERDINAND has his day with Matador McNeil, while the cheering "throngs" look on. (At right) Dancers Church, Gafford, Underwood, Forson, Leonard, and Weyrick give Les Folies a send off. Meanwhile, Mr. Echols phones for help... he's worried about the boys!

Drama With That Professional Touch

Rare, spicy entertainment with a professional touch—we found both in the dramatic highlights of the year, the Junior and Senior plays, thanks to the direction of Miss Mila Bray.

Choosing for their play the Pulitzer Prize winner of last year, the Seniors presented "You Can't Take It With You" with all its toe dancing, xylophoning, painting and snakes. It was the first time that a graduating class has had the chance to present a professional play immediately following a long successful run on Broadway; as an added distinction, P. U. H. S. was the first high school to present this play. Portraying the Sycamore household in all its eccentricities, the cast provided an enjoyable evening for all who attended.

"The Adorable Spendthrift," a charming comedy revolving about Sari, a Bavarian princess, was presented by the dramatists of the junior class in an unusually clever manner. "Best Junior Play in years," was the general comment.

Although actors are essential to a play, their work would be entirely lost were it not for the able assistance of Mr. Echols and the stage crew. These boys gather properties, set the stage, pull the curtain, and perform other duties necessary for a smooth final production.

Masque of the

Mrs. Cordelia M. Perkins, who directed the Masque of the Yellow Moon.

Along Paths of Gold

Four hundred years ago there came to Arizona Marcos de Niza, a Franciscan priest and the first white man to venture into this strange new country.

In honor of this anniversary, the theme of 1939's Masque of the Yellow Moon portrayed the story of de Niza.

Treading the Caminos del Oro—Paths of Gold—with pageantry, dances, and fancy costmes, 2500 high school and junior college students participated in the production, creating the colorful and festive atmosphere of the Old Southwest.

The Phoenix Chamber of Commerce lent enthusiastic support to the Masque, promoting a three-day celebration. During that time the city was decorated with banners and shawls suggestive of the theme of the Masque. A parade, featuring the beautifully designed float carrying Masque Queen Eleanor and her eight attendants, introduced the festivities. Then came the Masque, followed by the Grand Ball.

IT'S FUN to play act for Masque and Bauble, the dramatics club! While "Pagliacci" Ralph Spurrier aims his dagger at poor lil' Marcella Ranger, lovelorn Bob Clark and Clown Dick Garver react at different ends of the emotional scale. PATRONS of high school performances often have said that "the courtesy and willing service we get from those ushers is delightful." We're proud of the Auditorium Club, too! Here they are: (front row) Weems, Green, Woodward, Goodson, McKee, Turner, Davidson, Norton, Koon, Roberts; (second row) Skinner, Kearby, Hammer, Olson, Gillam, Meckler, Wilkinson, Dickinson, Brown, Vinson; (third row) Taylor, Smather, Garager, Booth, Vidaurreta, Lind, Parks, Feighner, Chalmers, Weed, Gibson; (fourth row) Harper, Jones, Starks, Dobsen, Newell, Taylor, Welch, O'Rourke, Bolin, Nesbit.

You Can Learn About Citizenship Here

Clear thinking, efficiency, and cheerfulness—you'll find that at the Ticket Office such virtues are stock-in-trade for Miss Dorothy Burdsal and her staff of student helpers. But how do they manage to do it! From the opening day of school, which brings the sale of season athletic tickets and Journal-Phoenician subscriptions, until the last school yearbook has been paid for and the last Junior-Senior Prom ticket has been given out, there is a steady stream of students pouring into the office.

STUDENTS HAVE LEARNED how to meet the world on its own torms under the guidance of these history and commercial experts. Future Industry Captains? Who Knows!

Located in one of our oldest and most picturesque buildings is one of the most modern and up-to-date departments of the school. In the Fourth Building are taught the newest and most efficient business methods available. Here is the Commercial Department, headed by Mr. C. L. Michael.

Beside the usual courses in typing, shorthand, and bookkeeping, there are also classes offered in such subjects as business practice, business organization, office training, commercial law, commercial mathematics, salesmanship, and retail selling.

Members of the retail selling classes are given, as a part of their course, practical training in business problems and tactics, for each is required to work in a downtown department store at least six weeks of the school year.

In the Ticket Office, under the guidance of Miss Dorothy P. Burdsal, are handled all sales of tickets for dances, musical programs, and other school activities. Student assistants are taken from the office training classes.

Realizing the importance of a well-rounded social life and the ability to mix with others in the training of a successful business man or woman, the Commercial faculty has been an enthusiastic backer of the Commercial Club. Any student who has taken three commercial subjects in high school is eligible for membership. Several picnics and parties are a part of the club calendar each year.

Land of a Romantic Past-and Future

Arizona students of history are fortunate in more ways than one. Residents of the nation's youngest state, they have opportunity to study first hand the gradual development of a raw, unsettled wasteland into a rich, abundantly beautiful country. In ten years Salt River Valley's population has almost doubled, new dams, new power lines, modern developments in transportation and industry are making history for us to study right at home!

Not only is Arizona the youngest state, but it also is oldest in historic value. Ancient Indian civilizations have left rich materal for our study: cliff dwellings, the old missions, legends of lost mines, stories of early white settlers, of stage coaches, rip-roaring mining camps, Indian battles . . . where else could a history student find more fascinating subjects!

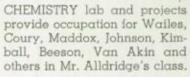

SCIENCE has taught these teachers that good humor has its points! Note the hitch-hiker technique of Mr. Dixon and Mr. Young. (Upper right) Mr. Mills and student. (Lower right) Mr. Eagan enjoying a story he has just told.

Modern Science Admits No Defeat

Roast pork, according to an old legend told by Charles Lamb, was discovered by Bo-bo, a Chinese peasant boy, who, left at home to guard the suckling pigs that shared the hut with his family, set the house afire and in trying to remove the burnt piggies, tasted the delicious meat and so started an epidemic of hut burnings. Finally they learned that to roast the pork one did not need to burn the whole house!

From such modest beginnings science and discovery have trod a long path. By the tortuous methods of trial and error, with careful deductions based on previously established truths, and by means of countless experiments the cost of which can never be fairly estimated, Nature's profound secrets have been brought to light. Chemistry, biology, physiography, botany - all have been made to do the will of man so that he might conquer dread diseases, build great cities, and provide food and pleasures for the multitudes.

Science Study Can Be Lots of Fun

Organized years ago for the purpose of motivating the study of physical geography, "Pop" Wilson's Physiography Club has so gained in popularity that many junior college students come back for the meetings and to go along on the exciting trips. Casa Grande, Pueblo Grande, and the Grand Canyon, to mention a few of the "grand" outings, were on this year's program.

A close second in popularity to the physiography group is Mr. Gilbert Mill's new Science Club. To join, the members must have one year of science and be taking chmistry or physics during the year. Aside from general meetings which include fascinating demonstrations of scientific wonders, the group learns about chemistry, consumer's research, astronomy and electricity.

Every Problem Has a Logical Answer

How is it that scientists can predict a sun eclipse a hundred years in advance . . . what is the magic that warns us of approaching hurricanes and tornadoes? If you buy stock at $5 per share and it goes down ten points, how much have you lost . . . and when it goes up, what about profits!

It's a scientific world, and in it mathematics cuts a mighty fine figure! The basis of all engineering, architecture, medical practice, and most of the arts is mathematics. Everything known to man operates on principles primarily mathematical; nothing is quite as comforting to one who is perplexed as to discover a logical explanation for his problem of the moment. And at P. U. H. S. many's the problem that challenges our students and is soundly put in its place by these potential Einsteins.

In the Mathematics Department, headed by Miss Nellie B. Wilkinson, are fifteen skilled instructors who spread the gospel of axioms, theorems, and logarithms to thousands of young Phoenicians. Also in the Department is a Mathematics Club, sponsored by Miss Downs. Club members regale themselves periodically with all the latest Professor Quizz puzzlers.

Such Objectives Emphasize Citizenship

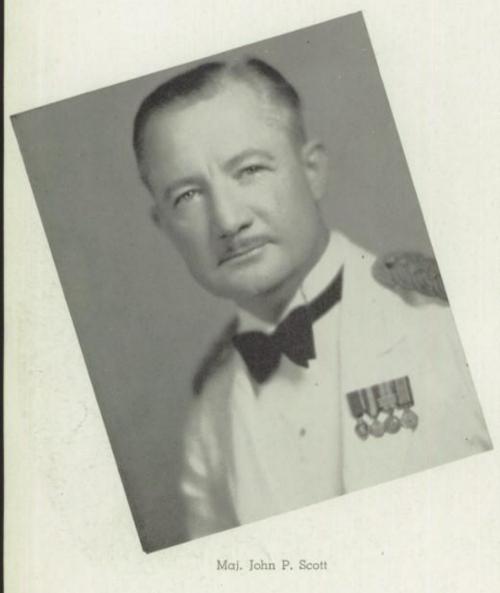

Mental, moral, and physical improvement . . . those are the laudable objectives the Reserve Officers' Training Corps continually strives for at Phoenix Union High School. Under expert guidance hundreds of young men are developing leadership, self-respect, stability . . . and better citizenship.

In 1939, and for the third consecutive year, our R. O. T. C. again achieved the highest ranking that can be awarded a high school reserve officers' unit as a result of the Federal Inspection report of Colonel Edward A. Keyes.

Salute the Colors! At Col. Armstrong's command the staff completes a study in pictorial balance.

Military Training

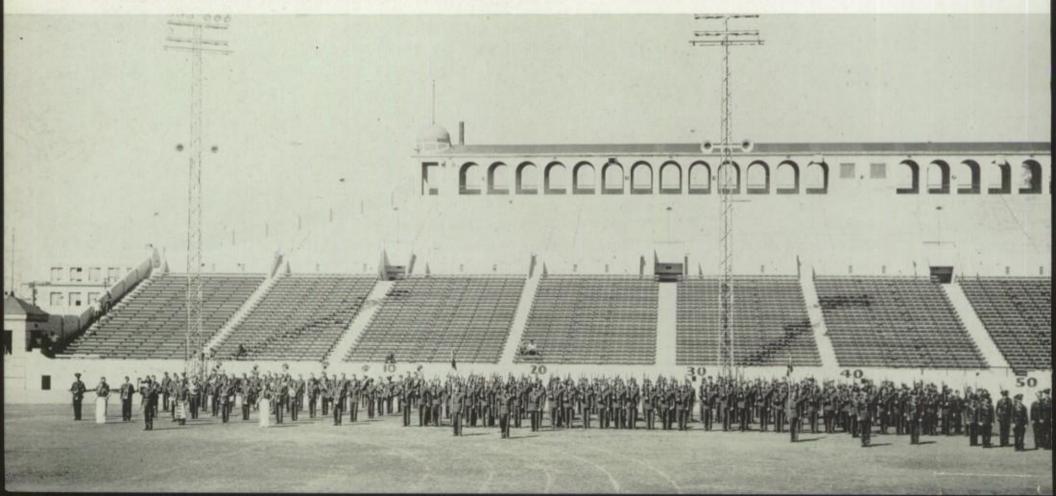

It Pays To Be Alert

Ours is one of the thirty-eight units of its kind in the Eighth Corps Area and of 366 R. O. T. C. units operating in 275 institutions in the nation. This organization is not a part of the regular army, no servce other than training is required, and enrollment is purely voluntary.

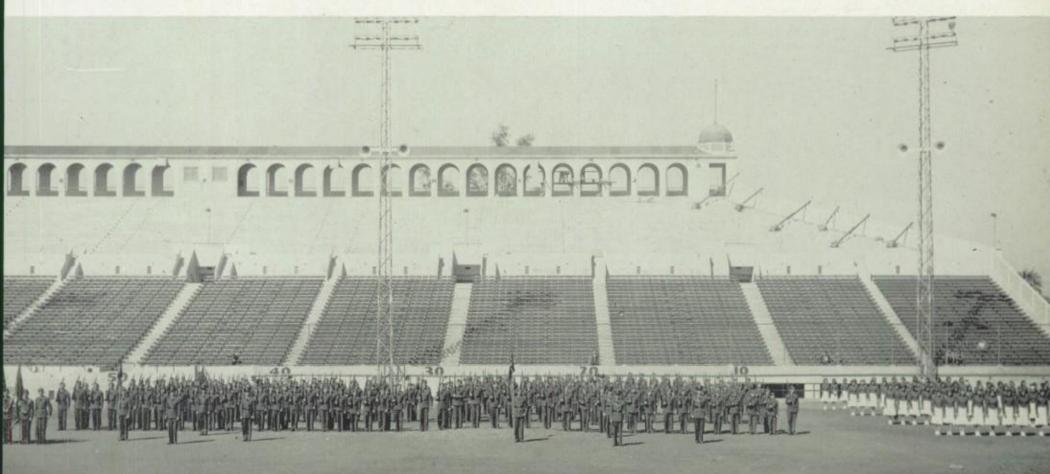

Major John P. Scott, director of the corps, has in his two years at Phoenix won the friendship and respect of every cadet. Staff Sergeant G. W. Robison, second in command, and sponsor of the championship Rifle Club, is equally well liked and appreciated.

Honors, awards, tests, and a series of competitions between squads, platoons, and companies keep the trainees constantly alert. Especially do the cadets look forward to public appearances such as at the Masque, Armistice Day parades, and the big annual demonstration given in the Stadium for the thousands of people in Salt River Valley who cannot get used to the surprising efficiency and precision of "those youngsters."

On or Off Duty, Officers are Respected

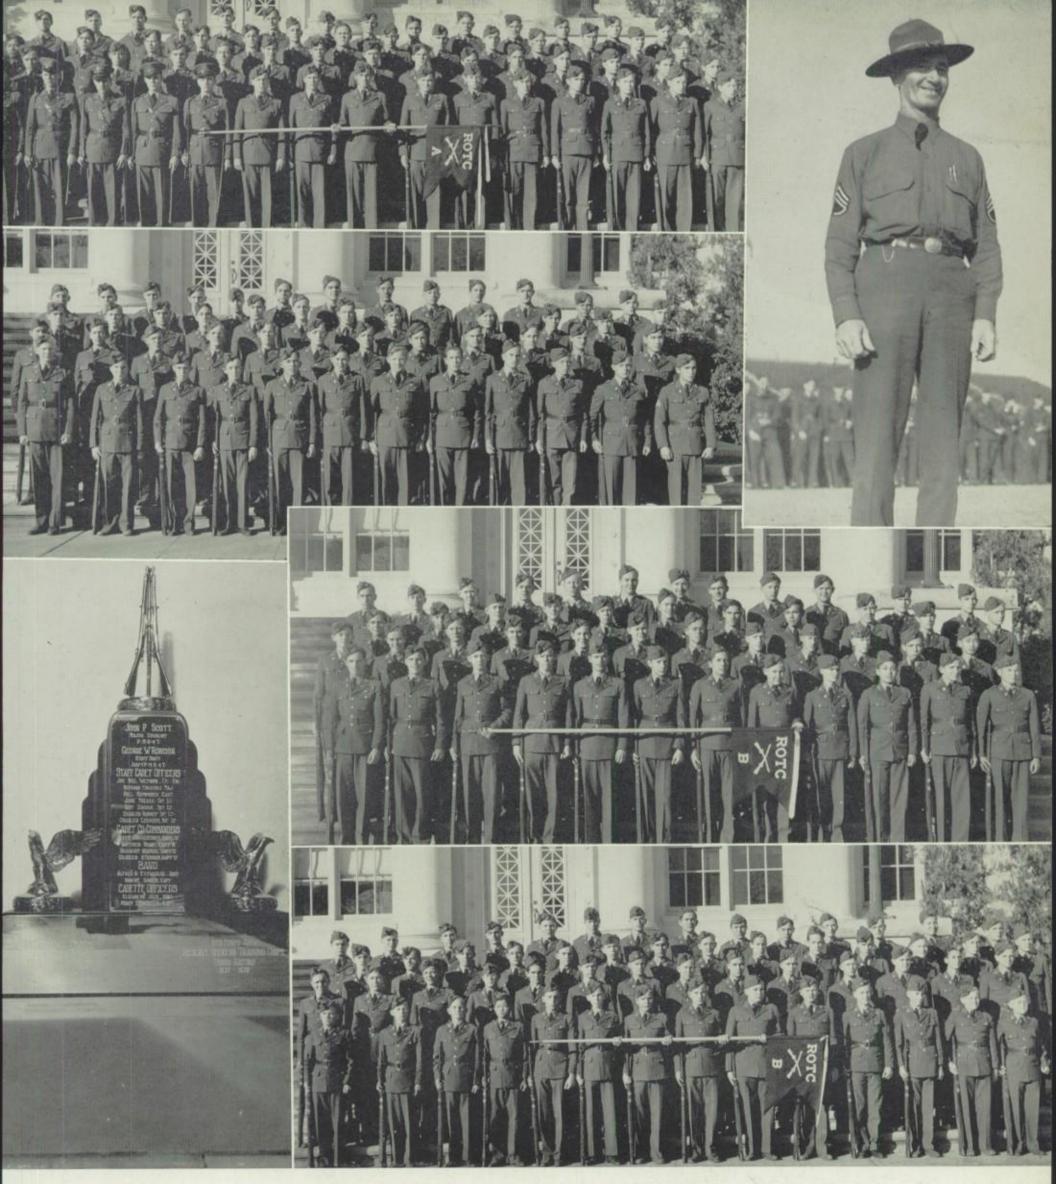

It's great to be a soldier, all right, but much grander to be an officer at the same time! Staff officers of the unit are chosen for their knowledge of military tactics, scholarship, and the ability to command the respect of their men.

Not only do the cadets jump at the commands of these officers while on the drill grounds, but elsewhere on the campus as well is the relationship maintained between officers and men.

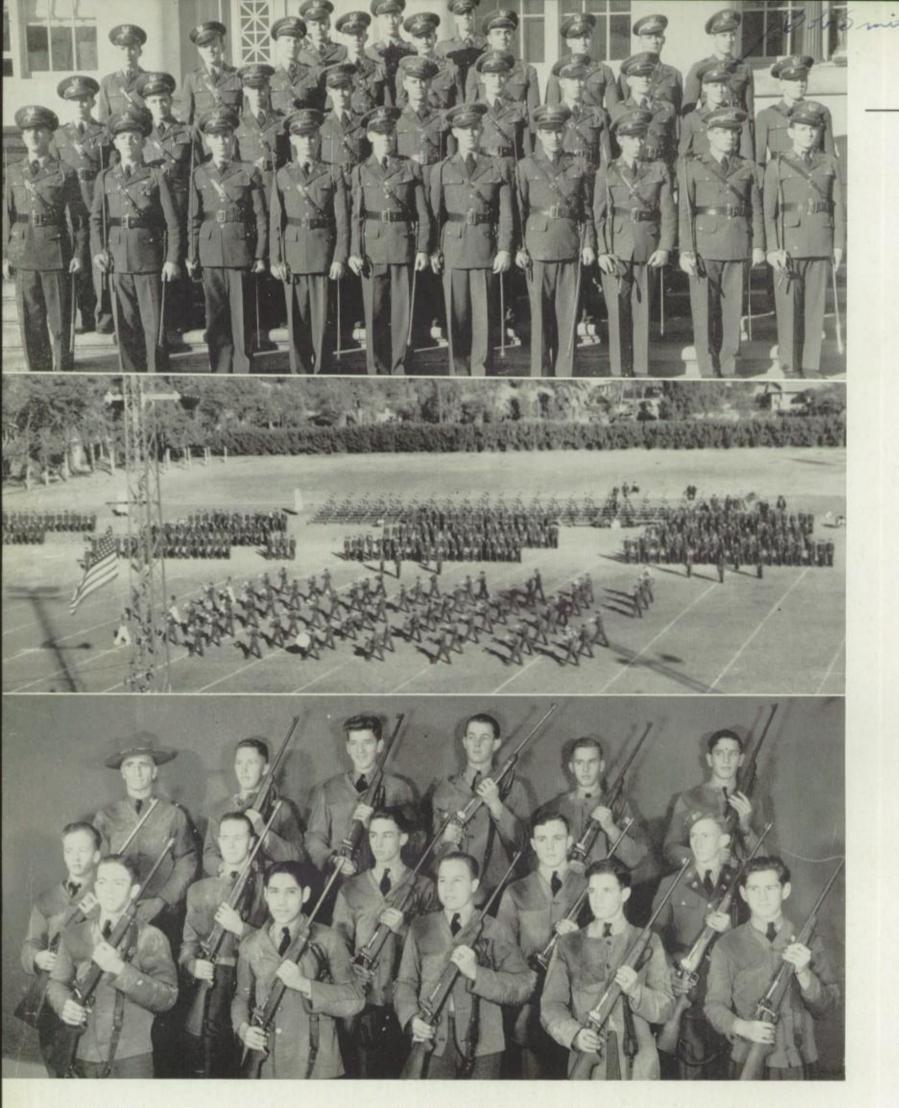

Directed by Lieutenant A. R. Etzweiler, the R. O. T. C. Band "plays" an important part in the unit. What would a military drill, with its formations, flag presentations and all be without martial music!

PRECISION adds to the attraction these girl marchers bring to the R. O. T. C. unit on "demonstration days." Page Boy Uniforms for Girl Marchers

This year the co-ed unit stepped out of the of the R.O.T.C. bandbox into bright new red and white uniforms which added a pleasurable touch to the military drills they presented at football games, Masque of the Yellow Moon, and the Armistice Day parade.

Costumes for their eye-opening march display during the annual pageant consisted of shorts, blouses, helmets, spears, and shields to give a Spanish zest to the performance.

With their page-boy caps bobbing evenly on the military drill field, the girls unit added color again to the annual Federal Inspection of the R. O. T. C., and the four-platoon company participated in the honors won. The girls are well versed in the science of military tactics and all officers are required to pass detailed examinations to qualify for a commissioned post. Commissioned officers this year were: Captain, Lottie Bludworth; first Lieutenant, Mary Jean Phillips; Second Lieutenants: Hazel Beaman, first platoon; Hazel Janeway, second platoon; Florence Giltner, third platoon; Theda Nelson, fourth platoon.

Industrious Artisans Forge Ahead

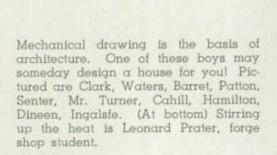

What would you do if your car stalled on the desert road 200 miles from the nearest service station? Yes, we'd wait for someone to come along, too! But there are several hundred boys in Phoenix High who would hop out, get a wrench or a screw driver, and in almost no time at all have the balky bus humming merrily. That's what a few weeks in the high school Auto Shop will do for a fellow!

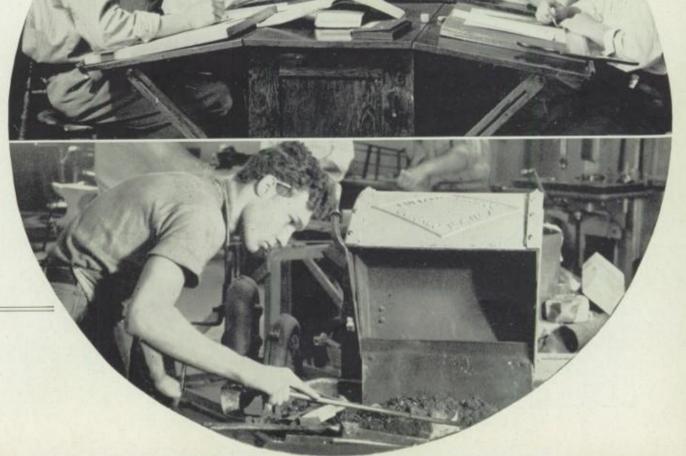

Practical training in all the Industrial Arts is open to any P. U. H. S. student. Directed by Mr. R. I. Turner, the department offers general instruction in mechanical drawing, printing, woodwork, forge shop, and auto repairing as well as radio and electric shop work. Any young man who has an idea that he would like to earn his living at any of these trades can easily determine the extent of his skill or interest in such a vocation. And, if the student develops special skill in any of these fields, he will have the ready cooperation of competent instructors.

Opportunities that Grandpa Never Had

In the days when grandpa was a boy, the young chap who wanted to learn carpentry, printing, or another trade usually hired out as an apprentice to an established tradesman at perhaps $1 per week. After three years or more, he became an assistant at a higher wage, and then much later, a master craftsman. Competition and the increasing demands for skilled technicians have practically eliminated the apprentice system in favor of instruction such as is available at Phoenix High.

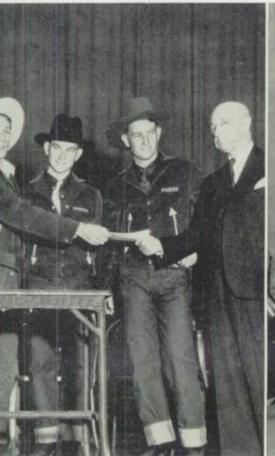

Students no longer need to ape older workers in the hope of learning a trade. They learn now under the careful direction of competent instructors who, long before they became teachers, were masters of these skills. But not until these master craftsmen had fulfilled strict educational requirements were they invited to teach those trades.

The annual exhibit of student work from the various Industrial Arts shops always attracts admiring crowds of parents and high school patrons. Visitors learn from eager student demonstrators how to weld iron parts together, how a lathe operates, the secret of placing a high polish on a piece of furniture. In the Electric Shop students cause sparks to fly and generators to hum; the Radio Shop fellows send out short wave messages and point proudly to their "verification cards" received from far away places . . . All in all, the Department's Open House is a triumph!

There's Pleasure and Profit in Farming

Make way for the Future Farmers! Not only is this club famous for its activities and for the trophies it has brought to Phoenix Union High School, but it also represents in large part the enthusiasm and progress that exemplifies the Agriculture Department from which the club members come.

At the American Royal Livestock Show in Kansas City, Missouri, last fall, the Phoenix Chapter of F.F.A. let the world know about Arizona by running away with honors in Beef Showmanship, Swine Judging, and Beef Judging and taking second highest honors in the total events. On the team were Roy Cheatham, Kenneth Marley, Seth Rye, and Jim Heaslett.

Nor was that all! At the Fiesta del Sol Parade in Phoenix our Future Farmers entered a float . . . and took the Grand Prize against a mile-long field of competitors! Other outstanding local achievements of the boys were climaxed with the staging of their Annual State Future Farmers Fair. At the Fair seventeen F.F.A. chapters competed, with 1600 entries. The beautiful Flower Show was a part of the Fair. Four radio broadcasts, participation in the Masque of the Yellow Moon, the Annual Mission Dairy Field Day, and a highly successful Father and Son Banquet concluded the year's events.

Head of the Agriculture Department is Mr. L. L. Kriegbaum with Mr. Dale Mullins and Mr. Tom Watson as fellow instructors. Mr. Watson is faculty sponsor of the local F.F.A.

Take Another Look at Your Program!

Next time you receive a program at a football game, for example, or as you enter the Auditorium for a special entertainment, look the booklet over with the appraising eye of a printer. That's mighty nice looking work, you'll admit! And to prove that quality is in our midst, look for the line "P.U.H.S. Print Shop" at the bottom of the program in letters so small you probably have never before noticed them. Hundreds of "jobs" each school year are handled by these boys under the direction of Mr. Harry Crockett. What is more interesting, the work these chaps are doing is rapidly fitting them for a place in a world that is already crying for more and more skilled workers.

Located in the same building as the printers you'll find Mr. H. Heidenrich and his busy-as-a-beaver carpenters. To these well instructed fellows the fitting of an intricate joint or the turning out of a gate-leg table are all in the day's work. With workers such as these, home builders of the next generation may well expect only the best!

PRINTERS (upper group) are always busy because each one has his own "job" to complete . . . with dozens of other jobs hanging on the waiting hook. (Lower group) Work like this would look great even in an ultra stylish furniture mart.

HOW SHOCKING (lower group) Some of this work taught by Mr. H. W. Henry could be! But these freshmen boys learn the ropes before they monkey with "hot" wires, or, as Mr. Henry declares, "They know watt's watt!"

MODERN OCEAN liners boast the short time it takes them to travel around the globe in terms of weeks, airliners in terms of hours; but all honors go to those amateur enthusiasts of the field of radio, who can talk to a fellow "ham" in almost any part of the world within the short space of a few seconds. Radio Hams, an organization made up of these high school air laners, has grasped this fine spirit of high adventure and has added a great many achievements to its long list.

Mr. Barney Shehan is the faculty adviser for the group, with Mr. Harry Phillips, another radio expert, assisting.

Stitching, snipping, stewing . . . Girls who follow the various homemaking courses are finding that work very practical as well as interesting. Even boys, at the risk of being kidded by their chums, sign up for classes in Consumer Buying, Human Relations, and Home Furnishing, for the excellent experience they draw from these studies.

In addition to making dresses and other garments for themselves, the seamstresses help in preparing costumes for the Masque of the Yellow Moon. Girls in the cooking classes, while acquiring skill in the gentle art of the kitchen stove, prepare and serve luncheons for various school functions such as at the annual Girls' League and Boys' Federation dinners.

Good Housekeeping is Itself a Career

Under the direction of Mrs. Mildred Wood, an authority on Human Relations, the Home Economics Department is considered one of the most progressive groups in the high school and plays a major part in school activities.

One exceptionally interesting feature of the department is the bi-annual play school, conducted by students of the Child Guidance and Human Relations classes. Here children between the ages of two and four are supervised and studied. Both girls and boys learn to appreciate and care for children.

Girls who have taken courses in this department are eligible for membership in the Home Economics Club. This organization is one of the most active in the school. The members plan picnics and parties, and in addition, present an annual Fashion Show for girls of the graduating class.

Yea, team! There goes the first kick-off at the Thanksgiving Day game. Hurry up, you latecomers!

For Lack of Weight, They Had Speed

Those 1938 "Fighting Coyotes" will live long in the memory of Phoenix fans. Always the underdogs but never a cinch, always outweighed but never outfought, the Rouble gridders justly earned their nickname and won the admiration of every football enthusiast.

With only two returning lettermen, handicapped by lack of heavy material, and facing the toughest schedule in Red and Black history, Coach Larry Rouble was indeed one to be pitied when the first call to Coyote gridders was given last fall. But impressing on his team that "a small fast man can beat a large slow man," Coach Rouble rounded his green forces into form.

"It's in the bag!" grins Coach Larry Rouble (above) as he and Co-Captains Stapley and Olea discuss the season's prospects. (Right) While fans roared approval, Olea crashes through for a short gain against Long Beach.

"Tossin" Ted Olea prepares to heave a long one.

Three Wins in a Row--

For his first encounter of the season, Don Coyote traveled to Globe. Poor field generalship, perhaps a little overconfidence, and the opposing all-state fullback played a great part in the upset—Globe 7, Phoenix 2.

Shocked by the loss and eager to avenge it, a determined Colote eleven took the field against Douglas for the first home game. The local fans were surprised to see Coach Rouble's smooth-working grid machine easily triumph over Douglas 20—0.

Next the Coyotes traveled to Bisbee where they met and defeated the locals 34—0. The following week they again triumphed with a 34—0 victory over the Phoenix Indians on the stadium field.

Thus far, the Red and Black had been playing weak teams, but from then on they faced five of the strongest teams California had to offer and their old foe, Mesa. Twelve thousand people turned out for the first game of the "suicide" schedule. Would the small Coyote line and inexperienced backfield withstand the charges of the powerful Santa Barbara Dons, or would it prove to be a track meet for the Californians? The Coyotes lost 13—6, but gained the distinction of being the only team so far to score on the Dons, and 12,000 fans went wild as "Tossin Ted" Olea and Co. started the now famous "dazzle" series of aerials for the first touchdown.

The following week Bakersfield's heavy Drillers invaded Phoenix, dropping the Coyotes 20—0. Bad luck seemed to hound the Red and Black that night, the only game all season when they failed to score. On one occasion they drove to the Drillers' 4-yard line, lost the ball on an intercepted pass—and Bakersfield scored on a 96-yard run!

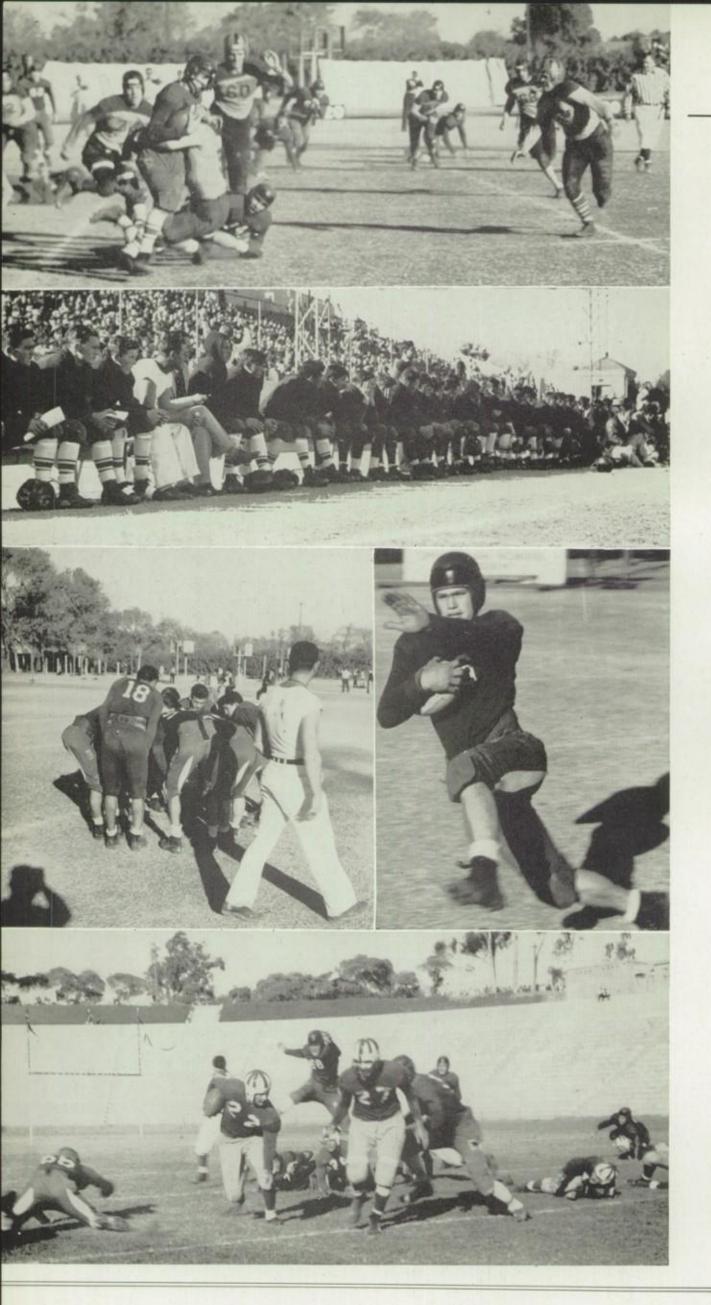

ENEMY LINESMEN don't see the famous Stapely grin until after Lorel tackles 'em. (At right) San Diego's Hilltoppers were rough 'n tough, but they learned to respect those Coyotes offensives. Win, Lose or Draw Fight On!

San Diego's Hilltoppers, Don Coyote's prime Coast rival, next beckoned to Phoenix. But the Red and Black invasion of San Diego proved another sad blow. After playing probably the roughest 59 minutes of football in their lives, the Coyotes still held a 14—13 lead. But in the final seconds of play, blooey! A long pass gave the Coast school a 19—14 victory.

Bruised and battered, the Phoenix boys returned to the desert homeland for a brief respite before the stout Long Beach lads rolled into town. Olea had suffered a wrenched shoulder that forced him into a two weeks' lay off, and just when the star tosser was beginning to click!

Rouble's warriors had learned that brute force could be countered with speed and deception plays. Seriously outweighed by every opponent, the Coyotes were to prove a close match for the best California could offer because of the razzle-dazzle and aerial type of attack. Nor could the temporary loss of Tossin' Ted dampen the local squad in its determination to fight for victory until the final gun.

Laudable, too, were the efforts of the yell leaders and students who, in the face of repeated setbacks cheered all the louder. The Coyotes responded to such loyalty with an unquenchable zest.

In the Face of Defeat Came Triumph

Bruised and battered, the Coyotes resumed their grid wars with the Long Beach Jackrabbits in an Armistice Day game at Phoenix. Loss of Olea, the team's "sparkplug", hindered the Coyotes as they again went down in defeat 26—7.

With four defeats staring them in the face and still weak from the San Diego encounter, Phoenix next looked forward to its bitterest rival, Mesa. Boasting an all-state team and a string of victories, the Southsiders seemed to have the game in the bag. But on the Phoenix High campus, aroused students added fuel to an evergrowing school spirit that was climaxed when the Coyotes nosed out favored Mesa, 26—21, in undoubtedly the best football game of the year on Arizona gridirons.

Concluding their season, the Red and Black met Fresno's Warriors in the Thanksgiving Day classic. Again, the Coyote aerial attack proved a deadly weapon with which they smothered Fresno 20—13.

But Phoenix fans wanted more, so we engaged powerful Cathedral High School of Los Angeles in a post-season game. Cathedral held a victory over the Southern California League champs, Alhambra. Much to the surprise of everyone, except Coach Rouble, the Coyotes sent the bulky Coast team home on the short end of a 20—7 score.

Varsity Football Isn't Everything

Stalwarts of the 1940 main string, the Phoenix Grays, directed by Coach William Vaughn, came through the season with colors flying. They tied games with St. Marys, Peoria and Ajo, split a pair with Mesa, and defeated the Salt River Indians, Casa Grande, the Phoenix Indians, and Colored High. Only one defeat, and that from an enemy they had previously whipped. That's a record to be proud of!

Six-Man Football, the nation's up-and-coming sport, made great headway this year at Phoenix. This clean, racy, wide-open game has captured the approval of fans everywhere. There are no pile-ups and few time-outs. Instead the football bcomes a flying missile and the ball receiver a flying target for the opposition to block. Coached by J. E. McComb, the Phoenix team crashed through for the Arizona State title and two of the players, Karnofsky and Bob Foutz, won All State honors. In addition, Karnofsky won national recognition as a member of the American Boy Magazine's All-American team.

We Raised the Roof With Cheers

Basketball, fastest of our sports, once more electrified fans and students at the Phoenix Gym. Not that the Coyotes usually won, but because the final scores were like Siamese Twins, did we chew our nails and suffer heart failure!

With most of the prospective players recovering from football bruises, Coach Rollie Caldwell's Coyote hoopsters got off to a slow start. But when Ted Olea and Tex Blanchard joined Bob Stiles, Lauren Batty, and Milt Whitley on the courts, Valley teams soon learned to fear Phoenix.

Starting off his season, Don Coyote met a rebuff at the hands of Tempe Frosh, 54—28. The following week the team traveled to Southern Arizona where they defeated Benson, 29—23, and lost to Bisbee, 35—31. In the Bisbee game the diminutive junior, Stiles, scored 23 of the 31 points. The third Coyote defeat was administered by the Miami Vandals, 35—30.

Wickenburg, always a tough foe, gave the Red and Black a stiff tussle, but Coyote reserve strength finally gave Phoenix a 38—30 victory. That started the season's thrillers for local fans. The Coyotes had seemed to be "in the groove" as they defeated in order: Tempe, 33—24; Peoria, 37—34; Litchfield, 37—24; Buckeye, 57—39; and Tucson, 33—27. The Tucson-Phoenix affair was played in the local gym and unusual good sportsmanship was shown the Pueblo City boys by the local crowd.

The Red Raiders of Ajo made a successful raid on the Coyote lair, taking home a 36—35 victory. What a game! It was nip-and-tuck from the start, and almost a photo-finish.

The next week Phoenix was host to the Mesa Jackrabbits. The Southsiders seemed to get the breaks, and most of the baskets, as they knocked Phoenix down to a 56—34 disaster.

The Glendale's Cardinals next came to town, giving the Coyotes one of the toughest battles of the season. Fans witnessed a see-saw game with the heavier Coyotes playing a fast deceptive game which barely saw them victors, 34—33.

AFTER A WEEK of practice the Coyotes were ready to bid their best in the race for the West-Central District Championship. By defeating Buckeye 78—36, Wickenburg 38—35, and Ajo 46—38, the Coyotes won the right to represent P. U. H. S. in the State Meet at Tucson.

Railbirds had doped Phoenix and Globe as favorites to cop the State Title. Fate brought the two together in the opening game of the Tournament. By defeating Globe, 36—17, Phoenix established herself as the favorite. The next team to play was Benson, whom the Coyotes had previously beaten 29—23. Constant heckling from the capacity crowd proved a big factor with the Coyotes and they were eliminated by Benson. The score was 39—29.

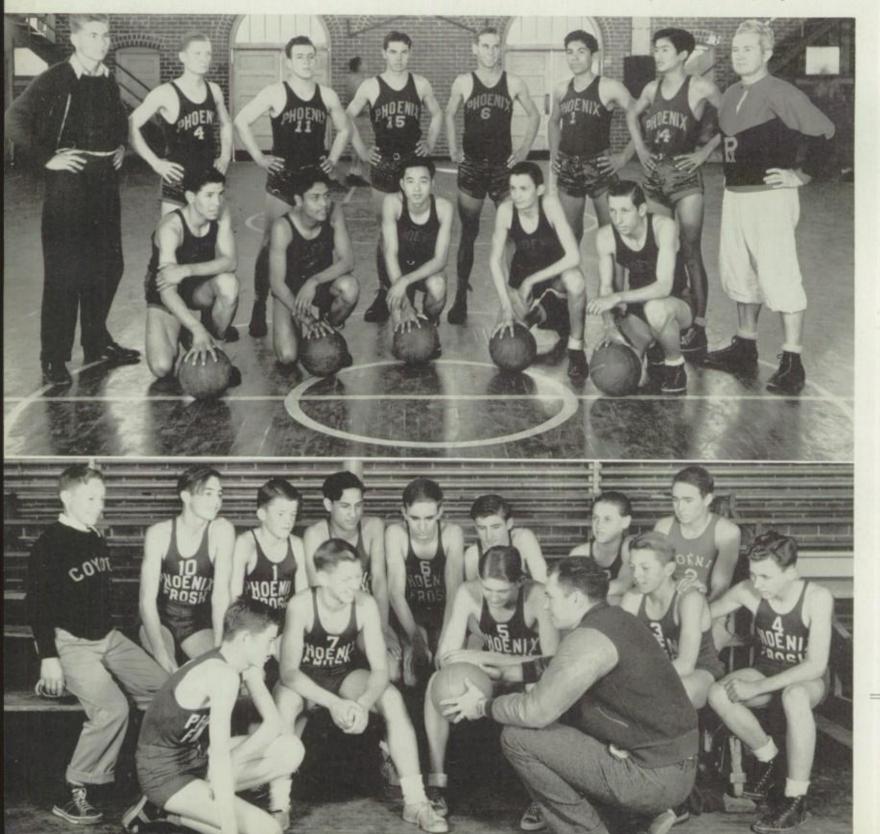

Reserve Strength for a Stellar 1940

"Let's hurry to the game in time to see the Pups!" This was a common expression employed by Phoenix fans during basketball season. Not only were the "prelims" exciting, but there was interest too, in seeing whether the Pups would maintain their amazing record of no defeats. And they kept it, too. They won every game on their 1938-39 schedule and boosted the Phoenix Pups' victory list to 42 consecutive wins.

The Pups, composed of underclassmen, are coached by Jesse McComb. This year's team produced many promising prospects, with the starting five all freshmen. They were Galardo and Riveras, forwards; Castle, center; Ong and Tarzon, guards. The squad is a mixed team, composed of Mexican, Chinese, and white boys. Under these circumstances, the boys surprised fans by showing an outstanding brand of teamwork.

Crowding the Phoenix Pups for honors were Coach Vernon Tuckey's Frosh, who completed their season with a smashing 44—19 against North Phoenix. Of 20 games played, the Tuckey boys won 15.

Want to Play Basketball? Here's How!

With increased enthusiasm, boys' homerooms this year advanced the intramural basketball idea to an even more satisfactory basis. Under the general direction of Coach R. R. Robinson, this plan, by which every interested boy in school has opportunity to take an active part in athletics, may do so. And there's no restriction on size, weight, or costume! The coaches welcome the plan, too, for it brings out athletes who otherwise might never suspect their own prowess.

Ten wins and no losses gave the school championship to Mrs. Munson's senior casaba sureshots. Junior class champs were Mr. Mills' boys who met only one setback. Heading the sophomores were the lads from Mr. Turner's group. In the two freshman leagues the Maxwell and Jones boys triumphed.

Although not as popular as the basketball intramurals, homeroom football contests got underway this year with enough success to assure more general popularity during the next school term.

Our Track Season at

Coach Robinson has a council of war with five of his stalwarts, Brown, Pacheco, Keswick, Brower, and Gail.

Success Calls for Speed And Endurance

"Beat Joe Batiste and Company!" That has been the battle cry of the Phoenix High School Track team in its 1939 campaign. But no matter how hard the Coyotes tried, they never were able to cope with the Tucson tracksters, who were led by Batiste, the envy of every high school coach in Arizona.

Handicapped by a shortage of dash men, Coach Robby Robinson tried to strengthen his team in the middle distance and distance races. It was in these divisions that the Coyotes made most of their points.

Ted Keswick, high jumper and hurdler, was captain of the locals and always was a consistent point maker. Ted set a new Phoenix High School record when he cleared the bar at 6 feet $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

Other boys always in the spotlight were Charley Gale, who set a new P. U. H. S. record in the pole vault with an 11 foot 11½ inch leap. Philip Brown in the weights and Dick Bowers, 440 man, were always in the money. Mort arme went the entire season without a defeat in the 880 trek.

The Coyotes had a comparatively smaller schedule than in other years. They participated only in seven meets, placing first in two of them and second in five.

Altogether, the Coyote's 1939 track season was satisfactory; but Coach Robinson's boys already anticipate a triumphant 1940 because of the surprising number of potential stars who will report for track next spring.

Swing Hard! The Bases are Loaded!

With spring in the air and summer just around the corner, P. U. H. S. baseball enthusiasts caught the urge for the nation's favorite pastime, and under the able guidance of Coach Jesse McComb, the Coyotes emerged at season's end with an outstanding record.

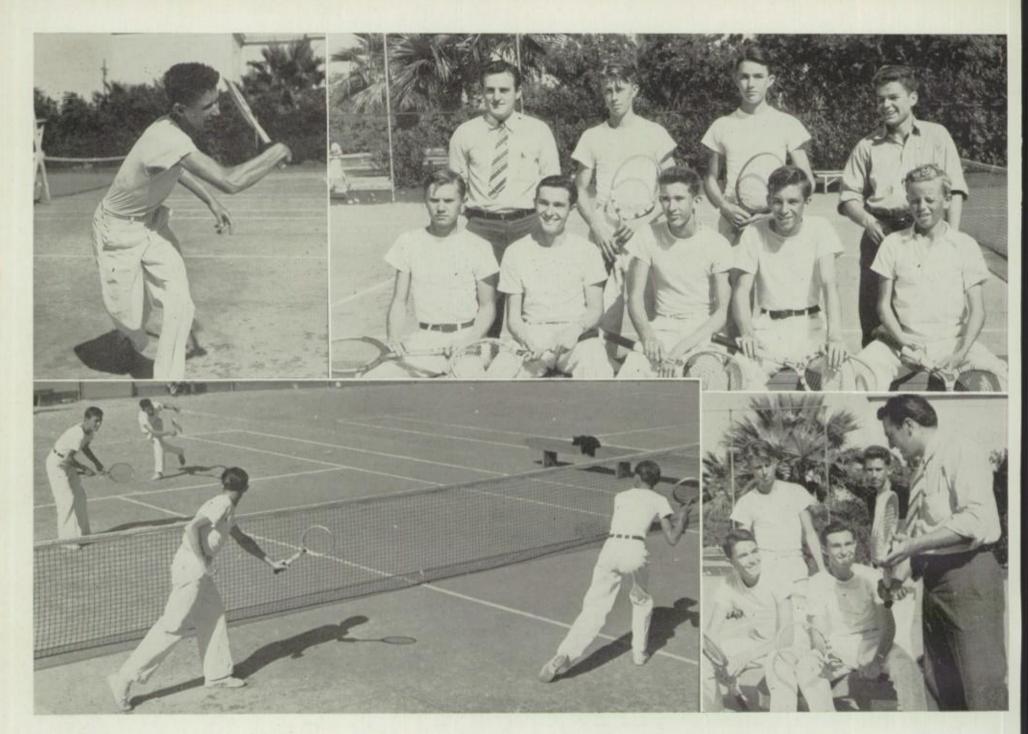

The hard-hitting Phoenicians ran rough-shod over every Arizona team they faced except Tucson, and battled their way to the finals in the California High School Tournament which was held in Pomona. In the Pomona Tournament the classy Phoenix athletes knocked off five top notch California squads and were favored to bring the California championship to the Valley of the Sun. But, unable to keep up their killing pace, they dropped the final game to San Diego.

Phoenix started off its season with an 18—5 victory over the Buckeye Hawks. The battle proved to be a slugfest with the Coyotes showing the most power.

In order to compete in the State Tournament, the Coyotes had to beat a strong club from Glendale. Glendale gave the Red and Black their toughest competition they had yet faced, but it wasn't tough enough. The Coyotes big guns boomed out a 11—7 victory over the flashy Cardinals.

Favored to win the State Meet, McComb's hopefuls first faced Casa Grande. They had little trouble in eliminating that opposition to the tune of 11—2.

The following day the Phoenix squad faced Tucson's Badgers. In the fifth inning victory was in sight for the Coyotes, but they weakened and the Pueblo City boys pounded out an 8—5 victory for the State honors.

Always Keep Your Eye on That Ball!

In its second year with Mr. Gene Doyle as coach, the Phoenix High Boys' Tennis Team played and defeated fourteen Arizona schools. Helpless before the flaying rackets and clever footwork of the Coyote court experts, Tucson, Yuma, Mesa, and the U. of Arizona Frosh joined the defeated ranks along with eleven minor schools in Arizona.

Although rebuffed in their barnstorming invasion of California schools, the boys tried their luck at the University Week tournament in Tucson May 6, winning the state doubles championship but dropping their claim to singles competition. They closed their season having won 182 sets to their opponents' total of 13.

The 1938-39 squad consisted of one freshman, a sophomore, and three seniors. Dick Carpenter, the sophomore, has smothered opposition with his blistering service; Homer Richards, the first year sensation, has won 16 consecutive matches. Seniors Jim Gilford, Dale Brown, and Walt Shreeve, the latter two hard-hitting southpaws, completed the squad.

Actions Mean More Than Words

Example is often the best teacher. When a football coach wants to demonstrate a new tackle, does he consider words or actions most graphic? Like the Chinese, he believes that one picture is worth "a thousand words" and in he dives! It is even so on the Girls' Athletic Field. Not that the instructors teach football; but in all of the sports—from basketball to baseball, tennis, and natural dancing, the gym teachers know how to show their students both with words and action.

Directed by Miss Margaret Hurley, the Physical Education Department for Girls is most popular. Every girl student has opportunity to participate in the myriad activities of the department. Fair play, good sportsmanship are traditional. Here also the girls learn poise, agility, and all the rules of healthful living.

Particularly interesting is the annual participation of the P. E. girls in the Masque of the Yellow Moon. Attired in lovely costumes fitting to the Masque's theme, these well trained misses present group and solo dances that thrill the thousands of visitors.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION for girls has these staunch exponents at Phoenix Union High: C. Wilkinson, Brinegar, Heatherington, Hotchkiss, Hurley.

Don't they look "natural"! Miss Hurley's morning class in natural dancing does a turn or two for the cameraman.

Here are the Keys to Better Health

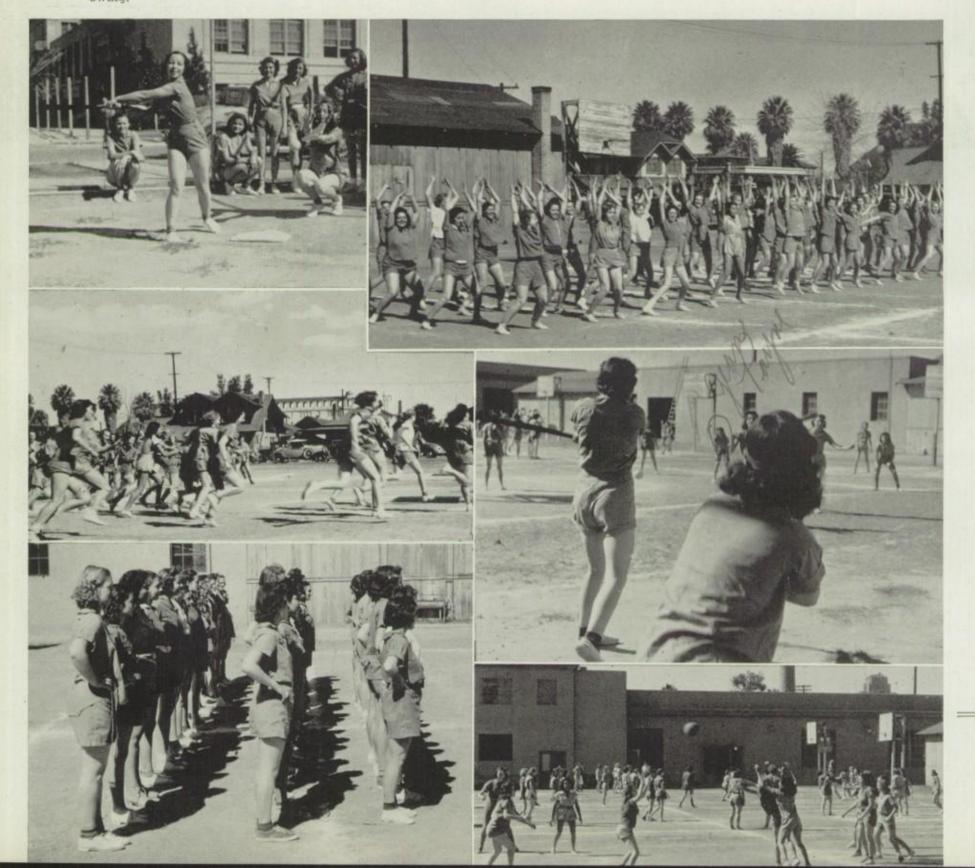

Sportsmanship shines where the Physical Ed girls are concerned. During any game on the Girls' Athletic Field, one hears as well as sees the spirit of fair play everywhere.

Of the major sports, tennis and basketball are favorites. These girls learn the ins and outs of the major sports, but part time is devoted to natural and folk dancing.

Those girls who need training in correct posture have a special class which meets in the Corrective Cottage. Here they learn to stand erect and walk with ease and grace. Games such as shuffleboard are played in the Corrective classes.

Miss Margaret Hurley, the head of the Physical Ed Department, is assisted by Miss C. Wilkinson, Mrs. Brinegar, Miss Hotchkiss and Mrs. Hetherington.

After School Is Out, Their Play Begins

Featuring after-school sports for girls is the purpose of the Girls' Athletic Association, sponsored by Mrs. Ruth Hetherington.

When enough points have been earned from two after-school sports, a girl may become a member of the G.A.A. Points are given to girls who belong to the Rifle Team and to El Kawajo, the riding club. Then, when a girl has gained the required number of points, she receives a large letter. She is then eligible to join the Girls' Letter Club, an honorary organization. (This organization is also sponsored by Mrs. Hetherington.)

At the close of each sport season a party is given for the club members. One of the most important of these is the Mother and Daughter Banquet which is held after the basketball season is over.

An annual dance as well as several picnics are some of the other activities. A swimming party and initiation picnic for the new members climaxes the athletic season. The club also furnishes baskets for the Sunny Slope Mission.

What Ho! My Kingdom for a Horse!

Steak frys, moonlight rides, and desert picnics play an important part in the activities of El Kawajo, the riding club. Early 'most every Saturday morning finds a group of these able equestrians following the bridle path at the Arizona Biltmore Hotel.

El Kawajo was organized by lovers of horses to gain proficiency in riding and for the pleasure gained from meeting and riding with fellow enthusiasts. Since its beginning nine years ago the membership has grown from only twelve girls until today it boasts so great a number as to require four separate classes, grouped as beginners, intermediates, advanced, and a mounted drill team.

Besides the usual club program, the El Kawajo Mounted Drill Team has performed in several local horse shows and the school Pageant. One of the highlights of the year was the making of the uniforms for the drill team. These consisted of black gaberdine trousers and boleros, white full-sleeve satin blouses, black felt hats and red Spanish sashes.

The activities of the group were brought to a close for the year with a Final Roundup Barbecue meeting at the South Mountain Ramada.

When They Raise a Racket, Watch Out!

Undefeated! That's the excellent 1939 record of the Girls' Tennis Team. Some of their opponents were Yuma and Tucson high schools, and the Varsity at Tempe State Teachers College. Other important games were with Tempe High School, Mesa, and Miami. Popular Mrs. Lorette Brinegar is the girls' tennis coach.

Joan McNeil and Dottie Wilkinson reached the semi-finals in the Southwestern Open Tournament in Tucson last fall, the latter being defeated in the finals by a national ranking player from Hollywood, California. Representing Phoenix Union High School in the State Tournament at Tucson, held during University Week, was Dottie Wilkinson, last year's champion. Joan McNeil and Virginia Johnson played in the doubles.

In spite of their outstanding performances this year, the first team players have no assurance of top places in 1939-40, for there are several hundred Phoenix High School girls who know how to use a tennis racket and are out to grab any stellar spot should one of the "regulars" falter. All of which is another way of saying, "We'll have another swell season next year!"

Dearest Helen, We have been through quite a lot. Of certain people expecting our plans and romances. Another way of looking at the campus . . . What a year this has been! Those student body dances . . . a new crop of jitterbugs . . . new dance steps . . . new cheers . . . remember the yell that started with "Bo-bo-skee-wha'n-dot'n . ?"

Take Another Look In Twenty Years!

What will you look like twenty years from now? And how about your ideas of fun . . . how changed will they be?

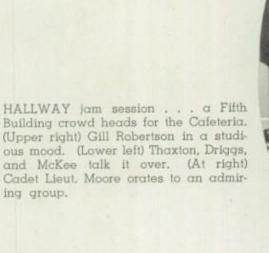

Sure, we'll change. We will find ourselves in business, on farms, in cities and states both here and far from Phoenix. But no matter how old we grow, we'll never be too ancient to remember with a thrill the good times we had in high school. Why, even the unpleasant memories—like the time we sassed the teacher and had our ears pinned back by her sarcasm—will become mellowed into whimsical jokes to be retold with increasing zest through the years to our children and grandchildren.

Open the old '39 Phoenician in 1960! Take a look at that grinning young jitterbug with three girls hanging on his arms! Why . . . it's YOU. How your old bones will creak at the memories of those dance steps . . . the set-'em-up exercises they made you do in gym...and those funny old expressions you spouted so expertly, "Hi, keed!" "Wha's that in the road, ahead?" and "Yeah? So what!"

One more triumph. This year's grads will be the last crowd that won't have to ponder the answer to the question, "Were you at the new or the old high school!"

SPIRIT! That's an important part of every football game. (Upper left) Cheerleaders Cochran, Carter, McNeil, and Ellis pause briefly between yells to smile for the photographer. (Upper right) Willy and Cocky swing up and out. (Center left) A friendly discussion between rival cheerleaders. Note the silk shirt from Santa Barbara! (Center right) Another important part of football games . . . marching and music by the uniform unit. (Lower left) The men who keep the benches warm. (Lower right) Look up, Look Up!

IF YOU CAN make the grade, you'll always get places! And at Phoenix Union High School, "making the grade" means membership in Parnassus and, later, the National Honor Society.

It takes an average earning of fourteen grade points to gain Parnassus Club membership. All students have opportunity to win such honor, but not until they become seniors may they hope for a place in the National Honor Society. Always from the latter group the valedictorians and salutatorians are chosen.

Both Parnassus and Honor Society members may look forward to a grand treat in the spring. Each May they are guests of the Hiram Club at a delightful luncheon.

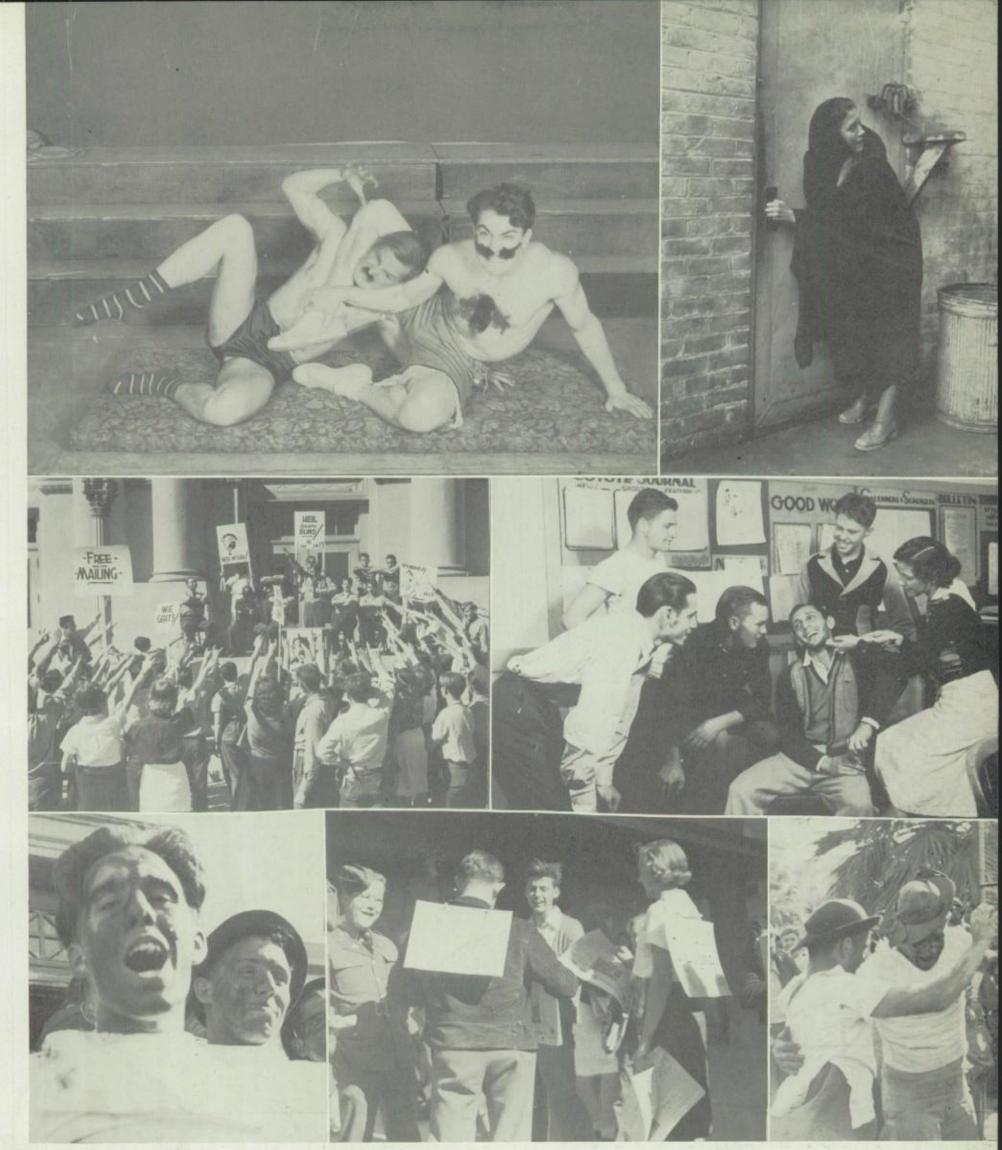

SNAP SHOT WEEK brought forth these prize winners. To Jack Ellis went first prize for his candid, unposed scoop entitled "Going! Going! Gone!!!" The victim? Jack Peterson. Other winners included Cliff Woodruff, who caught Mr. Ellis in a pensive mood... One way to kill the lunch period, says Marion Karnofsky's camera (Lower left) Jerry Tyler's grin is immortalized by Betty Mathew's kandid Kodak... (at right) Eeek! You worm! Aren't boys terrible? Hold on thar, Rastus! How's that for "W.P.A."! Bob Hernbode was the photographer. Betty Jean Bell labeled this informal shot of Natalie Nickerson, "Camelback —from the Rear." Emanuel Solymosy's "Contact" (lower right) also won a prize. For pictures entitled "Profile", "Surveyor", and "Going Places" honorable mention was awarded John Strong, Jack McManus, and Victor Hedden.

ANACHRONISMS in the news! Fed up on jitterbug antics such as Bill Mauldin (and Ol' Jim Thorpe) revel in, Caesar, as portrayed by Mr. Montgomery, emphasizes his "Excite!!!" with a gesture that even a Nazi might envy. Others in the Legio Decima group are Mrs. Montgomery, Miss Edwards and students of Latin. (Lower right) Miss Creighton's homeroom girls play hostess to a group of happy senior boys. Pa's Place and the Campus Den do a landslide business... but the secret was contained in a Coyote Journal ad, "With this coupon you will get a free frosty...!") (Lower left) After the Journal broadcast the "artists" relaxed with a mug of beer (root). Pictured are Bates, Sudekum, Powell, Mr. Nelson, Lewkowitz, and Trimble.

PHYSICAL CULTURE magazines could take a tip from some of our own athletes on "How to keep fit!" Even the Stadium Club boys (upper left) get their share of hopping about. (Front row) Crozier, Wood, Urman, Goodwin, Conner, Barney, Blackshare, Turner, Luftman, Senter, Sanders. (Second row) Holland, Hoover, Harris, Strong, Golter, Pole, Halett, Oliphant, Lara. (Third row) Holland, Hassell, Jennings, Hart, Stafford, Mauzey, Allen, Schmidlin, Swillim, Skinner. (Fourth row) Alvarado, Parmenter, Hodson, Mason, Saner, Brannan, Campbell, Patrick, Wilson, Eichenauer. "Up" to their usual stunts are Doyle and Garver (left). And it's SNOW (center) that makes these kids giggle... Look out! Jack's got a victim spotted! (Upper right) Squaring off for a round are "Bruiser" Waddell and "Kid" Kraft. Others pictured are Stermer, Hildebrandt, Skinner, Castle, Claybourne, Trayler, and Avallar. Coyote hoopsters in the limelight: Stiles, Olea, Batty, Blanchard, Whitley. (Lower left) Boys' Letter Club (front row) Shoecraft, Madrill, Simmons, Shreeve, Heron, Smith, Dean, Terry; (second row) Edgin, Lyons, Henshaw, Blanchard, Olea, Wilson, LaWell; (third row) Orth, Bowers, Peggs, Whitley, Brower, Arfut, Hilton, D. Brown; (back row) Warren, Grimwood, Stapley, Prescott, P. Brown, Keswick, La Prade, Ellis, McGowan.

WHAT if Hitler and Stalin were to meet! Well, Jerry Doyle and Dick Garver (upper left) give us their interpretation of that event! (Upper right) Alas, Pore Hazel ain't got no home and the villain is just around the corner! Quick! Hide in that garbage can! (Center left) Down with the Bund! Heel Hitler! Remember that April Fool Journal? (Center right) Winner of the Coyote Journal Whisker Growing Fete was Don "House of David" Goodwin. Runners up shown here are Randall, Goodwin, White, and Knight. Joan Shivvers does the measuring. (Lower left) After the preliminary Letter Club initiation, Vitek shouts his relief—while McGowan merely sniffs. There'll be more licks tonight! But—they're happy! (Lower center) More initiations! This time it's those Quill and Scroll-ers. (Lower right) Letter Club initiates Edgin and Marsh dance SO prettily!

THIS PROVES that students don't have ALL the fun! (Top) While Miss Christy is answering a long distance call from Robert Taylor (or perhaps Mr. Gable) the P.-T. A. meets for tea in the Social Hall. (Center) Barnyard golf at its best, as Messrs. Hawk, Michael, Phillips, and Farringer play it. (Right) And who's this calling Mrs. Marlar? Just a teacher after some registration info? Shucks! Dr. Eastburn (lower left) tries out the automatic test grader. (Right) What a steak fry THAT must have been for the faculty men! Notice Mr. Brown, up after a second piece of pie; and could that chef on the right be dignified Dean Wyman? (Bottom) Convention crowd . . . Custodians Wright and Foster go after those lunch papers we dropped . . . Mr. Echols pulls the switch. Curtain!

NEW PAINT for old! "Have you seen my new dress?" cried the Auditorium to the lawn. (Upper right) You don't have to wait for a fire before trying to "escape"... (Center row) Before it would submit to the painters the Eighth Building had to be hog-tied! How often do you see a palm tree on a trip? Well, it's planted now! (Right) Study in steel... a radio tower. (Lower right) With Mr. Calhoun at the shovel, school officials and building contractors witness the first ground breaking for our new high school plant. Left to right are Mr. Webb, Sup't. E. W. Montgomery, and Messrs. Mahoney, Strong, Bargman, Reed, Lescher, and Melczer.

"Why, it's perfect!" exclaims Charles Christy as he and his friends complete a survey of the new Junior College Auditorium.

"Not only that," grins Reed Morrison, standing by Dorothy Bemis, "but our campus is going to be the pride of the whole Southwest! That, too, is the belief of Katherine Corbitt, Ralph Spurrier, Margaret Ponder, Allyn Johannessen, and Vivian Fraley. You'll find them all enrolled at the new J. C. next September.

What are YOUR plans for next fall? Certainly you want to go to college! This complex, modern world demands it of you . . . it has plenty of room for skilled artisans, teachers, musicians, bookkeepers . . .

You will find a friendly, competent faculty at Phoenix; complete equipment and an adequate curricula await you. Morever, you will be pleased with the facilities provided for a fine social program, for athletic sports, and numerous other activities. Remember also that college friendships are lasting. "Oh, boy!" exclaims Dick, "it's no wonder everybody comes here for sodas, malts and sandwiches!" But Pat hasn't time for conversation; that root beet is too inviting!

EIGHT REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD EMPLOY AN ARCHITECT

- MOST PEOPLE know that the business of designing and constructing a bridge needs an Engineer; in illness one needs a Doctor; in legal matters a Lawyer. A building with its infinite variety of modern facilities for comfort and health and its claim for beauty needs the Architect.
- THE ARCHITECT has expert knowledge of building materials and construction methods, and how best to plan for the installation of plumbing, heating, lighting and insulation.
- A BUILDING is a better investment if well planned and attractive in appearance. Only the trained Architect can make it so.
- IV IT NEEDS no argument that the Owner's interests are best served by the Architect who has devoted years to special training for his work and therefore must be more intelligently qualified than the man with other interests, obligations and training.
- FROM START to finish of a building operation the Architect is the Owner's professional adviser and representative—in drawing contracts, complying with building codes and lien laws, certifying building charges, and seeing throughout that the Owner gets what he pays for.
- VI THE OWNER needs the supervision of an expert unbiased by commercial considerations to pass on the quality of the materials and workmanship going into his building.
- BOTH OWNER and Builder depend on competitive bidding for fair prices. Fair competitive bidding depends on complete plans and specifications drawn by an Architect.
- ARCHITECTURAL services are a small fraction of the total cost of building.

 A good Architect often saves the Owner a sum much larger than his fee.

"Then I said to the Sales Manager, 'You're Nuts!"

He wanted me to march up to every customer and make a spiel like this:

"Mrs. Klunk, what you need is Golden Shell Oil. This is a special oil for stop-and-go driving. It flows instantly to every moving part, even on cold starts. It is tough for fast, hard driving. It prevents wear. My company spent umpty millions developing it. And yet it is only 25¢ a quart."

And by that time, where's Mrs. Klunk? Across the street, probably. Or fainted.

Heck, you can't talk to customers the way that guy says. You got to humor 'em. They got a right to pay 30¢ or 35¢ a quart, if they want, for their own pet oil.

Know what I tell Mrs. Klunk? I say: "Mrs. Klunk, listen, this Golden Shell Oil is what I use in my own car. And my car has to both run for less and last longer than your car does." It works, too. Kind of flatters her, I guess.

NATIONAL HARDWARE WEEK at the O. S. Stapley stores is an event that attracts everybody — including Leonard Johnson and Francis Simmons, P.U.H.S. '39.

"I'll say!" chuckles Francis. "WE know where a fella can always get the best both in quality and in price!"

Leonard heartily agrees, while admiring the Neptune Outboard Motor Mr. Pike is demonstrating. "Oh, boy!" sighs Leonard, "What wouldn't I give for this motor, a snazzy boat, and a mountain lake!"

The O. S. STAPLEY COMPANY also specializes in Roadmaster Bicycles, Wilson Sporting Goods for every sport, Philoo Conservador refrigerators and Philoo Cool-Wave refrigerated air conditioning units . . . as well as a complete line of household goods and hardware.

"HI, KIDS!" You surely look happy. Going on a long vacation trip, I'd say!"

"Jane and Betty Wood are going breezing along way up north, with Jane's folks," answers Reed Price.

"No wonder they look happy," pipes Dick Hill." Their home and car are insured in the Southwestern Fire Insurance Company through one of the local insurance agents of this city."

"The Southwestern is a home company owned by Arizona people and employing local help," Reed declares. "Everyone living in Arizona should specify this insurance when they buy protection of any kind."

"It costs but a few cents a day, and think how good you feel when insured," volunteers Betty. "Why not take advantage of it!"
